

In the Father Way

BlueStarBlog Book Eight

Martin Gustav Riedel

BlueStarWay Publishing

Creative Notice: In Divine Service

Martin Gustav Riedel

Divine Law carries restorative Power and compense.

What is Created by Divine Authority is Protected by Divine Authority.

We leave it to Divine Law to balance any transgressions.

restorative: give back, put back to former state, return

compense: remuneration, counterbalance

Translation Notice: In Divine Service

Father Which Is in Heaven:

"In Right and Proper Exchange of Information there is but one conveyance in Right and Proper Order of Divine Expression.

The Divine manifests in multiple ways, in multiple cultures.
It is each unto its own way of perception.

It matters not what others may say or think, it matters always only that which is Divinely Appointed each day.

It was Given unto your perception,
Right and Proper Orderly Progression of Divine Nomenclature each and every day, step of your way.

Those who transpire to subvert your words and direction shall Penalty pay, for that which is Divinely Authorized Nomenclature, subsides, subsists in Grand and Glorious Scheme.

Let no man put asunder that which is Divine in Nature.

As to exact literal translation, there can be none.
It is, would be, a departure from that Divinely Authorized Conveyance should you undertake to do so.

Yes, the gist would remain intact, however, the nuances, reflections, inflection would no longer convey the subtle multidimensional unrefracted Nature.

It is by Divine Appointment this Conveyance comes in your time, in your way.

Let not those who would put asunder Direct Divine Conveyance do so, at Penalty of perjury of Divinely Authorized material."

nomenclature: system of names used as a science or art transpire: seek to bring about subvert: ruin, corrupt

subsides: descends

subsist: as means of maintaining life

asunder: separate into pieces perjury: voluntary violation of an oath to tell the Truth oath: a solid appeal to the Divine to witness to the Truth of a statement or the sacredness of a promise.

NOTICE TO READER

This book provides a means by which we can share what we have experienced and come to Know in this journey toward awakening. It was created based on "where we were" at the time of its conception.

Future material will show Spiritual Progression in Awakening.

This material is for individual use only.

It is intended to spark creative contemplation and consideration of 'if... then...'.

It is intended to provide a means by which you can enhance your experience of that which is Divine (rather than to provide a means by which you are told or taught what to believe, how to behave, and what is right or wrong).

Because this material brings Light, you may find some of it very unsettling.

It is ultimately you who, through your Spiritual Awareness and Prayer for Discernment and Guidance, must establish the Divine Truth of what IS.

As you do so, Know that Divine Truth is a Progression of ever expanding refinement.

Divine Answers Respect all living things.

Should you choose to do so, any incorporation of this material into your life is at your discretion and your sole responsibility.

Know that the Divine / Father Which Is in Heaven is available to provide additional support in understanding, learning, or applying this material in your own life.

In Our Words

We want to make it perfectly clear, especially to the young who have not been raised in the way of Respect, that we have posted the requirement Father has placed for the material presented to be and remain accurate, unaltered, and fully True to the context of His Teachings.

The Penalty He has clearly outlined for subverting this material is not something that would be implemented on an individual level, but by Universal Law. This carries its own retribution.

To those who would scoff at this, thinking themselves immune to Universal Law, we can only say, please be aware that these are not empty words. Ignoring Universal Law and the Father's Way does not bring absolution from the consequences of one's actions. Anyone focused on the Father Knows the Truth of this.

This is a free e-book. You may freely distribute this material and file only in its complete and unaltered format. This includes printed material. All material shall retain the "In Divine Service" notice and the Words that Father has Spoken regarding His Authority in Universal Law for the Protection and retribution of violating His Word.

You may freely reference this material only if you correctly "cite your source". That is to say, to make reference to information from Father's material you will appropriately credit BlueStarWay and the name of the material from which the reference was made. References and quotes may not be taken out of context. Sentences in italics shall remain in italics to indicate direct Conveyance from Father Which Is in Heaven. No referenced or quoted commentary by Martin, Mister, or Linda is to be given or presented as direct information from the Father, but rather as having been shared by their understanding at the time the material was written.

This material is freely shared by us.

If, in Joyful ThanksGiving, you feel like sharing a Gift with us

please visit www.BlueStarWay.com/increase4all/Vision

Heartfelt Thanks

BlueStarBlog

Book Eight

September 24, 2011

through

December 23, 2011

Written by Martin Gustav Riedel

Self Published with the Blessing of Father Which Is in Heaven

With quotes from Father Which Is in Heaven (in italics) as given to Linda Diane Mead, Ph.D. and many times recorded by Martin.

BlueStarWayPublishing.com

This book is a Gift to you from Father Which Is in Heaven.

Know that sentences in italics are direct messages from our Loving Father, “that all may come to see or know that which Honors and Serves the human race.”

*Father Which Is in Heaven
Gives you Thanks for accepting His Gift to you.*

Side note by Martin

The Father Which Is in Heaven referred to in all of the material Linda and I have created is the Father Jesus taught us to pray to in the Lord's Prayer. 'Living God,' 'Father Within,' and 'Father' are used interchangeably and refer to the same Father Which Is in Heaven.

Please take note that the concepts we have "inherited" in regards to Who and What the Father Is, His Desires, Goals, and Aspirations, as well as how He Manifests on Earth and in Humanity are very limited, constricted, and quite frankly suffocating. Please do give yourself room for expansion in this regard and do not be put off by the use of this terminology. The information contained in this book is neither patriarchal, religious, spiritualist, scientific, dogmatic, atheist, shamanic, new age, worldly, alien, nor any other modality. It just Is what it Is.

Also be aware that while there is only one Father Which Is in Heaven and no one else can "claim" this Name, the words 'god,' 'father,' and 'lord' in and of themselves seem to not carry this type of restriction. Therefore, unless one makes it clear that the use of words such as 'God', 'Living God,' or 'Father' specifically address Father Which is Heaven, it is possible for any number of entities floating around with a 'god' or 'lord' complex to answer the call.

That this is not an issue to be taken lightly is shown for example by the vast numbers of people throughout history who have gone to war, plundered, and taken human life presumably under 'god's' direction as well as by the number of people who still subscribe to this day to the divinity of such guidance. It is also shown by the vast number of people who deny, sacrifice, and flagellate self or others in the name of 'god.' Father Which Is in Heaven would never incite such actions. He has made this very clear to Linda and I again and again.

Obviously, there is a great need to be very Discerning in this matter and while it would be easy to get lost in terminology and arguments, this is really a matter of the Heart and of Intention. For the western or 'christianized' mind, the term 'Father Which Is in Heaven' together with the refinements included in this book can be a helpful aid to hone one's Heart and Intention in the right direction.

I specifically say 'western' or 'christianized' mind because Father has Conveyed and made it very clear to us that:

*The Divine manifests in multiple ways, in multiple cultures.
It is each to its own way of perception.*

And while different cultures do have different terminology and ways of relating to the Father, it is the case that all those who successfully commune with the Divine share common traits such as Harmony and Oneness with Nature, Peaceful disposition, Respect of Self and others, and Sovereign Expression. To these cultures and people the notion of destroying, killing, debasing, conquering, subduing, converting, ruling, dominating, or profiting from their fellow men and Earth is incomprehensible and alien indeed.

Whatever you do and whichever way you Honor and Develop your Relationship with the Divine just remember that Divine Answers Respect all Living Things and that the Divine isn't engaged in any battles.

Something else that needs briefly explained is the convention we adopted to capitalize certain words that have various, and often times opposing, meanings and therefore are prone to being misinterpreted or misused because of this. In short, when we capitalize words within a sentence we do so to specifically refer to the 'healthy' and thus benevolent interpretation of these words that supports a Life and Sovereign Expression Harmonious with Creation and the Good Will and Intent of the Father Which Is in Heaven. When we write the same words without capitalization we do so to denote the misunderstandings associated with these words.

For example, in our writings, lower case 'l,' love, refers to the common misconception that associates this 'love' with sexual passion (which is a word derived from the Latin word 'pati' which means 'to suffer'), sexual arousal, and / or physical attraction and requires such things as putting others first, attachment, control, self denial, (self) sacrifice, compromise, duty, etc., etc..

Capital 'L,' Love, on the other hand, refers in our writings to a Feeling that Elevates, Respects, Cares, Appreciates, brings Well Being and Comfort, and supports such states of expression as Health, Humor, Kindness, Peace, and Benevolence. An experience that is innate to our Being or Who We Are and is independent of others although its expression in us may be facilitated in their presence just like being in Nature facilitates us getting in touch with our inner Peace.

Similarly, little 'p' play denotes doing things in the way of the world and from the perception of the world. It includes slabor, fighting, resisting, profiting, ruling, destroying, abusing, killing, warring, saving, converting, and trying to defeat or overcome the 'bad guys,' whoever they may happen to be at any given time, so we can be 'safe.'

While, big 'P' Play indicates what we came here to Earth to do: Play in Father's Garden in a Light Hearted, Respectful, Joy-full, Constructive, Edifying Way through which we manifest our Divinity and expand our experience, KNowledge, and Understandings of Creation and Father Which Is in Heaven's Good Will and Intent for us.

As you can see, this convention, while seemingly simple, is of utmost significance to facilitate a Proper interpretation of our writings.

Obviously we can't nor haven't applied this convention to every word we use for that would be too cumbersome. Neither does this convention apply to proper names, though many times we purposely 'downgrade' a proper name to lower case to emphasize the point we seek to convey.

Occasionally we may miss a capitalization, however the concepts being conveyed within the sentence and paragraph will make it perfectly clear whether we are referring to the 'unhealthy' or 'healthy' meaning of the word.

In-Joy

Table of Contents

Unconventional Wisdom - Part 13.....	1
Unconventional Wisdom - Part 14.....	2
Unconventional Wisdom - Part 15.....	4
Unconventional Wisdom - Part 16.....	6
The Air we Breathe.....	8
The food we eat.....	10
The clothes we wear.....	12
A side note.....	13
A second side note.....	15
The things we touch.....	18
How?.....	20
We did it!.....	21
The environment in which we live.....	22
The environment in which we live - continued.....	24
What is the difference?.....	26
That which we create.....	27
Ending the play.....	29
Ending the play - continued.....	32
Missionary trip with commentaries.....	34
Missionary trip with commentaries - continued.....	36
Missionary trip with commentaries - continued - part 2.....	38
Missionary trip with commentaries - Village 2.....	39
Missionary trip with commentaries - Village 2 continued.....	40
Missionary trip with commentaries - Village 2 - more.....	42
Missionary trip with commentaries - Village 3.....	44
Missionary trip with commentaries - Village 3 - continued.....	45
Missionary trip with commentaries - Village 3 - one last comment.....	46

Unconventional Wisdom - Part 13

092411

Yesterday was summer equinox. Yes, the 23rd of September and not the 21st as convention taught us in school. To have celebrated the equinox on the 21st would have been similar to celebrating the 4th of July here in these United States on June 30th. It would have been to miss the party altogether.

If you were upon Terra (see Heliotropos), equinox marks the time in which Terra is straight behind the Sun, right at His equator. Half a season to the right of the Sun, the other half to the left. Half a season above the Sun's equator, the other half below. If someone upon Terra were driving a car on a three lane street, equinox could be likened to driving on the center lane behind a truck. Depending on how close or far away this car is from the truck, the driver could either benefit or not from the "quiet zone" made by the truck as it diverts the currents generated by its forward movement.

I find it interesting how the terminology used in the above sentence fits so nicely with this current topic of energy.

Unconventional Wisdom - Part 14

092511

The idea that our current technology impoverishes us is a concept that flies against convention for after all, in western society, there exists the prevalent perception that it is this very technology that has allowed People to achieve higher wealth and thus higher standards of living. But is convention accurate?

The answer to this can be found in dumpsters as well as in any US postal office.

Here is a picture of a sign attached to a dumpster being used by a construction crew in the neighborhood.

This sign makes it clear that appliances, batteries, chemicals, and tires are considered hazardous waste.

Concurrent with this, you will find in most, if not all, US postal offices, a poster showing hazardous items which are illegal to mail because they are injurious to life and property. This information is further expanded in Notice 128 of May 2008 which states that federal law declares it a crime to mail anything that may kill or injure persons or harm property. Some of the items listed in this flier as prohibited to mail include fireworks, ammunition, aerosols, gas containers, lighters, fuels, paints, inks, varnishes, perfumes, insecticides, pesticides, mercury, oven cleaners, magnets, radioactive materials, and batteries. Note too, that paper money should also not be mailed through the US postal service.

We basically speak of every single item that constitutes the backbone of modern technology and that has become a measure of wealth, comfort, and standard of living in western society. However, if it is a crime to mail the fruits of modern technology and it is illegal to dump them in dumpsters, how can anyone then turn around and declare in good conscience that such technology increases the wealth of People and nations? How can anyone in good conscience say that acquiring and using such hazardous materials increases People's standard of living?

How can anyone in good conscience say that this technological path which we have been forced into is beneficial to humanity and therefore worth pursuing?

Unconventional Wisdom - Part 15

093011

It seems appropriate to keep in mind that it is not technology itself that is the problem. The problem is the choice for a technological path that interferes with the natural interplay and exchange of energies within Creation and therefore destroys our health and spiritual well being.

One could argue that we just didn't know, however such argument is flawed. I remember hearing many years ago Jeff Rense ¹ conducting an interview with an individual who in his research came to understand that agriculture was not willingly embraced by the People because they recognized how destructive it was to their way of life. If you research the industrial revolution, you will find that People recognized the destructive nature of this technology. Nowadays, you will find People who have and continue to speak about the destructiveness of computer technology which allows such things as genetic engineering. You will find People speaking about the destructiveness of synthetic chemicals and the industries that produce them and so on.

No, we the People did know and do know and have sought in many ways to take action to return to a more natural way of life. However, the unrighteous / unholy have not only disregarded such efforts, but also found ways to remove them from "mainstream" consciousness by asserting it is only the "inferior, primitive, and unsophisticated" who have a problem with "progress".

While the unrighteous / unholy have been poisoning our lives with their destructive technologies ever since their arrival about 7,000 years ago, Father has explained to us that it is not until the industrial revolution that us the People took a serious turn for the worse.

Fortunately for those of us who Desire for things to be restored to the natural workings of Creation, Father and the Sun are assisting the Earth in ending all unrighteous / unholy activity and technology. It would be foolish indeed if the survivors of these events would set themselves up to rebuild the same destructive technology and way of life the Earth was cleansed of, rather than taking the Opportunity to transition into a way of life and technology that is Harmonious with Creation.

¹ Rense.com

Unconventional Wisdom - Part 16

100111

It seems to be a good day to talk about the practicality of what we have been learning.

To refresh our KNowledge: Father makes the current sea available to us on a daily basis, interestingly enough, "free of charge". This current sea is carried by the solar winds and contains minerals, amino acids, precious metals, gemstones, and other Soul Nourishing elements needed to support Life within this solar system. A moist environment supports and facilitates the reception and Proper utilization of this current sea while a dry environment hinders this.

With this in mind, let's talk about some of the things we can do right here and now to enhance our capacity to receive this current sea.

First and foremost, an attitude of Thanksgiving ². Father has explained to us that all He asks in return for what He Freely Gives is Thanksgiving. In the "Mystical and Magical" ³ series, we learned that attitude is not only a "position of the body" but also a "mental outlook" and a "feeling of mind". Therefore, the act of being in Thanksgiving to the Father (and not another) aligns our bodily posture, mental outlook, and feelings in such a way as to allow the reception of such Abundance. Stress, anger, fear, and so on constricts through tension and thus impedes the reception of current sea. Thanksgiving to the Father and the Joy / mental outlook such attitude brings / requires makes us flexible and thus enhances the reception of current sea.

Concurrently to this attitude of Thanksgiving, we must stop squandering the resources we receive. That is to say, stop giving them away to others, stop letting others consume them (that includes parasites), and stop wasting energy in pursuit of worthless trinkets and goals.

² <http://www.bluestarway.com/tgh2008.html>

³ http://bluestarway.com/bluestarblog/index.php?category/fathersway/mystical_magical

Second to this adjustment of our inner environment, there are "external" measures we can take. These measures relate to the air we breath, the food we eat, the things we touch / wear, and the environment in which we live. I will speak more about this in my next entries.

The Air we Breathe

100411

Next to an internal attitude adjustment in which we learn to Properly direct our ThanksGiving to the Father and to stop squandering the resources He Freely makes available to us, there are external measures we can take to facilitate the reception of current sea.

Here are some suggestions regarding what can be done to improve one's "intake" of nourishment via the breath:

1. Get as much fresh air as possible. That is to say, if one lives in a city, one should consider moving to the country to get out from under the smog domes normally hovering above cities. Smog domes inhibit the flow of current sea to the ground limiting the Abundance and nourishment available through the current sea. This, in my opinion, helps explains why "city" People tend to be frail and sickly while "country" People tend to be robust and healthy. Contrary to convention, frail and sickly are not a sign of "refinement", but rather a sign of malnourishment. Robustness and health are not a sign of coarseness but rather of good nourishment.
2. Condition the outdoor air you breathe. This is to say, one could plant trees that allow sunlight to reach the ground and learn to InJoy life under such trees. Trees filter the air and add moisture to the environment thus facilitating the reception and Proper utilization of current sea. If planting trees is not feasible, one could visit a park with mature trees.
3. Condition the indoor air you breathe. That is to say, one could use air filters, uv filters, humidifiers, and ionizers to recreate the conditions of natural environments. Alternatively or concurrently, Father suggested the use of lumps of charcoal and large plants around house or office. Perhaps even better, if you are out in the country or winds / rain bring particularly fresh air, open your windows.

All of the above suggestions can be supported further by learning how to breathe Properly through active disciplines such as Tai Chi. It is also beneficial to affirm every so often, that one welcomes, accepts, and receives only the Natural Frequencies of Creation (GloriosaSourceFather ⁴) and that everything else is non.

⁴ <http://bluestarway.com/bluestarblog/index.php?post/2010/05/16/And-the-Father-is...-a-finale>

The food we eat

100511

Another external way to augment our reception of the current sea is through the food we eat. By growing the food we eat in a way that is Harmonious with Nature and the current sea, we are Blessed with bounty that is full of nourishment and therefore flavor.

I suggest that lack of flavor is an indicator of lack of nutrition while full delicious flavor is an indicator of well grown food full of current sea. Since different plants receive and utilize the current sea differently, it is this unique combination of resources that gives rise to the various flavors and aromas of plants and their flowers / fruits / seeds / roots / leaves.

As I understand this at this point in time, plants receive current sea in two ways. One is directly from the solar wind and the other is indirectly from what the Earth has received and distributed in each particular area or land. When we interfere with the flow of current sea carried in the solar wind, for example through air pollution, we reduce the amount of nourishment available to the plant. This causes inferior results. When we interfere with the Abundance the Earth makes available in the soil, for example through mining (including agricultural mining), we reduce the amount of nourishment available in the soil for plants. This also produces inferior results. This is to say, the marked decreased in food's nourishing value is a direct result of the amount of resources stolen from the Earth and the amount of current sea destroyed through industry as we know it. There is not enough genetic engineering that will ever be able to counteract this.

Two things must happen to fully restore the nutritive value of our food. One is end the pilfering of Earth's resources. Two is end the destruction of the atmosphere through air and noise pollution. Until that day, here are some suggestions one could begin implementing to whatever extent feasible / possible.

1. Father Says no genetically altered seed / food of any kind.
2. Grow your own non-modified food and save if possible several years worth of seed. Excess abundance left over after fully supplying your pantry can then be exchanged directly for things you can't grow. For example, a weekly basket of vegetables for a weekly supply of eggs.
3. If growing your food is not feasible, then shop at farmer's markets perhaps preferably from farmers that use natural farming techniques but who are not organic certified. Second to this, get organic food.
4. Condition the air your plants breathe. For this, trees with open canopies that allow sufficient light to filter through, such as a paulownia tree, come in very handy. These trees will reward you with two benefits. One, the cleaning of air and rain as it reaches the plants below. Two, the needed "sunscreen" from the Sun's increased energetic output.
5. Condition the soil. This goes beyond mayor and minor nutrients and should include precious metals and gemstones. It is the presence of precious metals such as gold, silver, and copper -- all known for their germicidal qualities -- that give plants the strength to not fall prey to molds, fungus, and so on. As to gemstones, Father explained to us, this is long forgotten Knowledge that needs to be relearned. The best place for precious metals and gemstones is in the dirt where they belong. We humans receive such "riches" through direct reception of the current sea and through use of plants that are allowed to grow in such rich soil in the first place. Beyond that, the Earth reveals "caches" as seem appropriate for those of good intent.

This is the beginning of the Knowledge needed to transition from traditional farming to what Father has called Soul Nourishing Agriculture. There is no expectation for anyone to be able to transition to this new way overnight - especially since this KNowledge is still unfolding. Fortunately, we still have some time to figure it out. Without overwhelming ourselves, we can expediently take one step at at time.

The clothes we wear

100611

To better understand what kind of clothes is best suited to facilitate the exchange of current sea through our body / skin, let's see what can be learned from the typical electrical cable found in electrical appliances.

Electrical cables have a metal conductor covered by an insulator. The metal conducts the electricity while the insulator forms a "barrier" that prevents this electricity from "escaping" and thus shocking anyone that picks the cable. Precious metals are good conductors while plastics are good insulators.

With this in mind, it should become easily recognizable that when People cover themselves in plastic by the clothes they wear, the chemicals they spread on themselves, or the food they eat, they are effectively putting on a barrier between their bodies and the current sea. This in turn limits the body's capacity to absorb / receive current sea through the skin / inner organs.

Rather than insulating ourselves from Creation and "our daily bread", Father has suggested we return to the Wisdom of wearing natural untreated fibers such as linen, cotton, hemp, bamboo, flax, and so on.

While it may seem overwhelming to change an entire family wardrobe, the first step into natural clothing can be affordably accomplished over time by visiting garage sales, thrift stores, second hand stores, and yes, if applicable, also clothes charities.

Once you realize the quality of clothes and linens that can be obtained at bargain prices, you may find it difficult to ever again pay full price.

A side note

101011

Western thinking holds the idea that overpopulation is caused by all the uneducated People of third world / developing countries who reproduce like bunnies... however, is this claim really accurate?

Here are a few quotes from Wikipedia's article on the "Industrial Revolution" which among other things, elaborates on its consequences ⁵ :

1. "According to Robert Hughes in The Fatal Shore, the population of England and Wales, which had remained steady at 6 million from 1700 to 1740, rose dramatically after 1740."
2. "The population of England had more than doubled from 8.3 million in 1801 to 16.8 million in 1851 and, by 1901, had nearly doubled again to 30.5 million. [41]"
3. "Europe's population increased from about 100 million in 1700 to 400 million by 1900.[44]"
4. "In the two centuries following 1800, the world's average per capita income increased over 10-fold, while the world's population increased over 6-fold.[2]"

As you can read, the problem of overpopulation did not begin in undeveloped countries. It began in what we now know as "industrialized countries" as a direct result of the industrial revolution.

If you research indigenous populations you will invariably find some here and there who live and have always lived in small communities. Western "think tanks" tell us that it is these People's simplicity and incapacity to master nature that forces them to live within the boundaries of what nature can provide when unaltered. But could it be perhaps that it is not their ignorance or incapacity that keeps them from "conquering" nature, but rather their Wisdom?

⁵ As of October 10, 2011.

Of what good is it for cells to turn cancerous and greedily subjugate, destroy, and abuse the body they inhabit? What good is it for cancerous cells to reproduce into insanity when the very height of their "achievement" leads to their own self destruction?

Thus one must ask, of what good is it for People to have allowed themselves to be turned into a cancer that consumes, destroys, and multiplies into insanity as it seeks to subjugate the Earth unto death, when these very actions will lead to self destruction the day the Earth breathes her last breath?

[As Father has explained to Linda and I'm paraphrasing:]

The unrighteous / unholy thought they would be able to escape the annihilation that follows their insanity and find another planet to inhabit and corrupt. Yet, things have changed and all "escape routes" are being closed. In their arrogance and self aggrandizement, they thought that Father's "inaction" was a sign of their "superior force", never having the meekness to recognize that perhaps Father was simply giving them the option to recognize the foolishness of their insanity before they meet their own self destruction. However, the unrighteous / unholy shall not meet their self destruction as a result of Earth's death, but as a result of Earth's rebirth - just like a cancer vanishes into the nothingness it came from when a person succeeds in restoring him / herself to full Health through natural means.

There is still time for us the People to make the choice to not go the way of the unrighteous / unholy, but we must be willing to let go of all those things that have turned us into a cancer.

Father would have everyone choose Life, yet He cannot force that choice upon anyone. It is a choice each individual has to willingly and completely make on their own.

A second side note

101211

Besides supporting overpopulation, the industrial revolution is at the root of another aberration: massive abandonment and poisoning of the land.

Here are a few more quotes from Wikipedia's article on the "Industrial Revolution".

1. "The growth of modern industry from the late 18th century onward led to massive urbanisation and the rise of new great cities, first in Europe and then in other regions, as new opportunities brought huge numbers of migrants from rural communities into urban areas."
2. "In 1717 Manchester was merely a market town of 10,000 people, but by 1911 it had a population of 2.3 million.[47]"
3. "In 1800, only 3% of the world's population lived in cities,[45] a figure that has risen to nearly 50% at the beginning of the 21st century.[46]"
4. "The large scale production of chemicals was an important development during the Industrial Revolution."
5. "The process produced a large amount of pollution [...]"

People familiar with the Genesis story of Adam and Eve develop the false sense that the separation from the Garden is a done deal that occurred long ago. Yet in reality this separation has been and continues to be an ongoing event. It happens every time a person leaves the land for the city, every time the land is poisoned / mined, every time someone accepts the glitter of darkness, and every time land is declared "off limits" to the People in the name of "preservation".

By giving rise to a technology that not only destroyed People's ability to live upon the land as independent artisans, but also allowed the poisoning of rivers, land, and air in unprecedented ways, the industrial revolution achieved what millenia of wars, pestilence, and famine were not able to do: to cause massive amounts of People to loose their already undermined capacity to receive their sustenance from the Father and to force them into welcoming and desiring the "glitter" of darkness in exchange for the false promise of a "better life".

This migration from the land to the city is representative of People succumbing to the unrighteous / unholy, for it is the moment People leave behind the Abundance Freely Given by the Father in favor of the mercantile game of poverty indebtedness. This turning away creates a schism that alters our perception by relegating the Father to an intangible and therefore irrelevant aspect of worldly life which is perceived as having no bearing or practical application to our capacity to meet daily worldly needs. Thus the common misconception that when it comes to money, food, and other worldly pleasures, one must go to the unrighteous / unholy and participate in their mercantile game.

The cost of succumbing to this insidious and pervasive trap has been devastating indeed, not only to us as individuals but also to humanity and Earth as a whole. Toxic bodies, toxic minds, toxic entertainment, toxic rivers, toxic oceans, toxic air, toxic food, toxic drinking water, toxic land, toxic houses, toxic technology... poverty indebtedness, hopeless lives, mindless work, chronic sickness, and the list goes on and on.

You may no longer recognize it, but this is not the way it used to be. Granted, life before the industrial revolution was no walk in the park either, but at least us the People were hanging on, to the best of our ability, to our Desire to live Freely upon the land and to be directly sustained by the Father.

Yet, despite everything the unrighteous / unholy have done, Father's Garden is still available to us and Father has never ceased to provide our daily nourishment and sustenance. Father has never cast us out of His Garden and He has never placed any type of "obstacles" to keep us from it.

Thus, when Father Speaks of the return to the land, whether it be a farmland, a backyard, or a park, He is Talking more than just growing food or breathing cleaner air. He is inviting us back to His Garden.

Thus, when Father Speaks of the return to a more simple technology, He is Talking more than just a new way of making money. He is inviting us to relearn the Truth of Who We Are and the Truth of how the Divine manifests in the world and in the nature of humankind.

In a LightHearted and Joyfully Honorable manner, Father is welcoming us back to His Garden and is teaching us how to once again receive His Abundance and develop a simple yet advanced technology that supports a way of Life that nourishes the Soul.

The things we touch

101711

With the "side notes" complete, let's return to exploring the ways in which we can enhance our capacity to receive the current sea that Father makes available to us on a daily basis.

Today, we focus on touch. Why? Because our body can absorb nutrients through our skin and this in turn can enhance or diminish our health and well being. This interaction occurs on two levels. First, on one that is "intangible" to us and is therefore considered, for all practical purposes, non existent: the interaction between the current sea flowing in the air and our skin. Second, on one that is tangible to us even though it also remains largely unrecognized: the interaction between our skin and the physical things we touch.

Said simply, the things we touch and the things that touch us matter.

As to the air in which we are immersed, we want it to be clean, fresh, pure, and full of current sea, that we may literally experience the touch of the Divine and be Blessed by it. As to the physical things we touch, we want them to be natural. We want our clothes and linens to be of natural fibers and natural dyes. We want our tools and utensils to be of natural materials free of synthetic coatings. We want the water we use to cleanse ourselves to be pure, healthy, and energized by the current sea. We want the vegetables, fruits, nuts, and other foods we receive to be untreated and natural.

This list can of course be extended to include among other things, furniture, household items, house fixtures, paints, technology, and "chemicals". It can also be extended to the garden and food preparation / storage. ⁶

⁶ Father has explained that even plastic pots are detrimental to the plant and flower kingdom. He has suggested we use glass cookware, glass storage containers, and wooden utensils for food preparation and storage. Cast iron and enameled cookware seems to be ok too.

To "21st century" People, this Desire for Purity may seem extremist, yet not that long ago, this is the way things were. We didn't have to pay premium prices for "healthy organic" food because all was grown naturally. We didn't have to pay premium prices for natural clothing because all was made of natural fibers. We didn't have to make large amounts of money to have natural houses and furniture. We didn't have to filter our water and air. And the list goes on.

It is time to recognize that just as Native Americans were defrauded of their natural resources and valuables in exchange for valueless trinkets, so too have we been defrauded of our real wealth and well being in exchange for valueless synthetics, plastics, and other technological trinkets such as computers, cell phones, video games, and so on.

It is time to end the fraud.

How?

102511

How do we make a change for the better? One step at a time.

Today we use glass containers to store our food. Some other day we visit a second hand store and find some glass cookware. When it is time to purchase clothes, we get natural fibers. Instead of purchasing three tomatoes from a grocery store, we get one at a farmer's market.

Expediently and focused, yet one step at a time, always willing to receive the full Blessings Father would have for us each and every day.

We did it!

111711

We have finally succeeded in moving out of the city and into the country. It was quite a journey, but we persevered and here we are.

Thank You Father and thank you to all who contributed to make this move possible.

I'm looking forward to resume my writings.

The environment in which we live

111811

So, now that I'm kind of settled here, let's get right back to the "Unconventional Wisdom" series. In the last few entries I have been sharing some ideas as to how one might enhance one's ability to receive the Current Sea which Father makes Freely available to us via the solar wind. First, was the inner change to an attitude of Thanks Giving to the Father for all the Blessings and Abundance He bestows upon us. Next, was the recognition that one should not squander that which the Father bestows by feeding or supporting the unrighteous / unholy and any of their purveyors. Then, I shared some ideas that can enhance our reception of the current sea through the air we breathe, the food we eat, the clothes we wear, and the things we touch.

Now, is time to share some ideas regarding the environment and its relationship to the Current Sea. For this, we will take a look at a popular magazine here in the United States. No, not a scientific magazine; no, not an environmental magazine; no, not any other obtuse or convoluted magazine respected by researchers or "think tanks", but rather at a simple, light-hearted magazine called "First for Women". In their Volume 22, Issue 30 of July 26, 2010, there is an article titled "Brilliant uses for charcoal". Under use number 6, readers are told that charcoal can be used to brighten one's mood by placing a few pieces of it on a table and that this is so because the infrared rays released by the charcoal convert the moisture in the surrounding air into negative ions. When these negative ions enter the bloodstream via the breath, they cause an increase in the output of serotonin by the brain which in turn makes one feel better. ⁷

This information seems pretty irrelevant on its own, however, when placed within the context of the Current Sea and how moisture is essential for the Proper reception of this Abundance... suddenly things change. In this "little gem" of an article there is enough information to give us a glimpse into the interplay between the Sun (who does provide infrared light), the Current Sea made available by the Father, the resources of the Earth, and us, the People. I would suggest that it is not the negative ions in and of themselves that make our brains produce more serotonin, but rather that these negative ions create an inner condition that facilitates our body's capacity to receive the Current Sea. Out of this increased reception of Abundance, our body then naturally produces the increased levels of serotonin.

⁷ By the way, this article also confirms the validity of Father's suggestion to place pieces of charcoal and large plants in a room or office. Refer to entry "The Air we Breathe".

The condition of our environment does matter. Does it support our capacity to receive the Current Sea and live in the Blessings such Abundance bestows upon us? Or does it deplete / destroy / interfere with the Current Sea and our capacity to receive such Abundance?

In previous entries I have written about the consequences of living surrounded by a technology that dries our environment out and today, you should have a clearer recognition of this. Yet there is more. What happens when airplanes crisscross the globe, sucking in fresh clean air full of Current Sea only to spew out poisonous gases? What happens when industry and cars destroy the Current Sea that reaches us here on the ground? What happens when air pollution blocks the SunLight? What happens when we fill our air with artificial signals from satellites and radios that modify and alter the natural frequencies of the Current Sea? What happens when we consume the resources that the Earth has within?

What happens is that the natural interplay that is Designed to support our Well Being falls apart. In this, we fall apart. To destroy and consume our environment is to destroy and consume ourselves. To destroy and consume ourselves is to destroy and consume our environment. Whether we do it into oblivion or in a "sustainable way", no real Joy and Health will ever be found in a technology that interferes and alters the natural frequencies of Creation.

The environment in which we live - continued

112011

On reading the previous entry, one could make the argument that the only reason the information about charcoal and moisture was available to be published in a woman's magazine is because someone had to do serious research through the scientific method to find this out. Without this research, one could argue, we would have never known how to benefit from the use of charcoal.

Perhaps, but perhaps not.

Let me introduce the concept of "Terra preta", "Amazonian dark earth", or "Indian black earth". Linda and I first heard of this on a radio show by Patrick Timpone ⁸ not that long ago. According to wikipedia, "Terra preta ⁹ ... is a type of very dark, fertile... soil found in the Amazon Basin... [These] soils are of pre-Columbian nature and were created by humans between 450 BC and AD 950.[6][7]"

Terra preta was created through the introduction of wood charcoal, pottery shards, bone, and manure to the soil. This soil amendment is so powerful and beneficial that "Thousands of years after its creation it has been reported to regenerate itself at the rate of 1 centimeter (0.39 in) per year[8]..."

While apparently the question still remains as to whether terra preta is an intentional creation or a simple byproduct of habitation, the point here is threefold.

- First, when a society lives Harmoniously with Creation, the likely outcome or byproduct of such Life is naturally beneficial to the environment.
- Second, scientific research is unnecessary to live in such a way and benefit from such Life.
- Third, there is great Wisdom in the use of "primitive" technology and knowledge.

⁸ <http://www.oneradionetwork.com/>

⁹ https://secure.wikimedia.org/wikipedia/en/wiki/Terra_preta

Notes:

Image is courtesy of wikipedia.org.

What is the difference?

112111

What is the difference between the pre-Columbian cultures that created terra preta and today's "technologically advanced" civilization?

The pre-Columbian cultures in the Amazon Basin restored carbon back to the Earth in a creative way. In so doing, they enriched themselves and their environment.

Today's "technologically advanced" society consumes the carbon from the Earth. In so doing, it impoverishes everyone and destroys the Earth.

Consumption and destruction is the pattern of the unrighteous - unholy.

Enrichment and Abundance is the pattern of the Father Way.

Thus one must question, who is more advanced? The primitives who live in the Abundance of the Father or the "technological sophisticated" who live in the poverty of the unrighteous - unholy?

That which we create

112311

There is an additional way to enhance our reception of the current sea, namely, by that which we create.

Father has explained to us that Creativity is a natural ability of humanity meant to be expressed individually and spontaneously. Thus, when we participate in this process Free of concerns for profit, greed, and productivity, and in a way that promotes Feeling of Joy, Well Being, Peace, Contemplation, and / or Appreciation of Truth / our True Nature, we enhance our capacity to receive the current sea. Why? Because such Feelings generate an attitude of Thanks Giving or Giving Thanks. When we are great-full to the Father / Creation / Life we become receptive to the Blessings of the Father. This process nourishes our Soul and consequently our physical body. In full Health and free of hunger we see Clearly what we Truthfully Desire and what is Beneficial to us. Less is more because all we do nourishes our Soul and body. Father calls this style of living elegant simplicity.

In contradistinction to this, when we participate in a creative process that alienates us, separates us from Nature, poisons us, produces emotions of anger, sourness, consumption, greed, and addiction (to name a few) it becomes difficult to view Creation as a Blessing and thus to be in an attitude of Giving Thanks to the Father. Consequently, we close up, twist, and misalign. Our capacity to receive the current sea is diminished and our Soul and body become malnourished. Malfunction and distortion set in and begin to alter our perception. We no longer see Clearly and become confused and misguided. Emptiness and hunger pervade our lives and it becomes easy for the unrighteous - unholy to derail us. All they have to do is hold a plastic or virtual carrot in front of us for us to follow their false promise of a rich and better life through progress / technology / virtual reality - all of which, of course, can only be obtained for the right price. Thus, we accept participation in their mercantile game, for how shall we feed ourselves, clothe ourselves, pay bills, and obtain the latest version of the carrot without their paper money? As Father explained to Linda, we become entrapped by the deception of profit, greed, and productivity and we no longer see nor understand a way of life free of such distortions. As a matter of fact, in our famine and malfunction we now begin to see ourselves superior to those who do not play in this game. Yet, no matter how many carrots we get and how much we consume, destroy, steal, abuse, and defraud in the process, our hunger only becomes worse - our delusional intellectual superiority can't overcome the primitiveness of our Soul and body, which still can't live off plastic or virtual carrots. If we could only find a way to transfer ourselves to robotic bodies... Father calls this style of living poverty indebtedness or slabor (slave labor). It is a self fulfilling cycle of ever increasing destruction and oblivion.

How do we get out of this destructive cycle? We stop and step aside from the crowd. We contemplate how to restore our capacity to nourish ourSelves / Soul. Per Father's suggestion, we begin a daily list of all the things for which we can be honestly great-full to Him. Then, one step at a time, we end squandering our resources in the empty pursuit of plastic / virtual carrots and we begin to implement changes, one step at a time, in what we do, breathe, wear, touch, and create.

One step at a time. One creation at a time. Steadfast in our Desire to be restored to the Truth of Who We Are and that which the Father would have for us each and every day, we put an end to our play in their game.

Ending the play

113011

Throughout my and Linda's blog, we have written about "ending our play" with the unrighteous - unholy. Today it seems a good day to give some further explanation as to what this entails. I will do so by sharing three experiences I had while doing some missionary work in the jungles of Argentina, but before I get started with this, there is a need for some important Knowledge to be Conveyed.

Father has explained that People upon Earth come here to big "P" Play in the Father Way. This is a Light Hearted Play through which we learn and experience Creation. It is a Play that is meant to nourish and strengthen the Soul, brighten the Heart, and increase our understanding of Creation and the Father Way. This is why People and animals like Playing so much. Play is a part of Life upon Earth.

Big "P" Play is different than little "p" play. Little "p" play is the play introduced by the unrighteous / unholy upon their arrival. That is to say, not only did the unrighteous / unholy purposely hamper our ability to big "P" Play in the Father Way by altering the Earth, our environment, and our genetics, but they also used our natural disposition to big "P" Play, to entrap us in a game of poverty indebtedness and slabor.

When Father Speaks about ending our play, He Speaks about recognizing the fraud and ending our participation in the forgery the unrighteous - unholy imposed upon us. It is in doing so that we can begin big "P" Playing again.

For example, someone who makes a copy of an authentic painting and sells it as the real and original painting, commits fraud. Those who bought the forgery thinking it to be authentic, have been deceived and have acquired a worthless copy. Yes, the forgery looks like the authentic painting, but it is not the same. Having been made by someone else and with the intent to defraud, the forgery does not carry nor convey they original energy imparted by the artist through his creative expression.

In other words, let's say the artist created his painting to convey Feelings of Joy and Appreciation of Nature and evoke such Feelings in those who look at his painting. When one looks at this original painting the message is clear. The energy of the painting conveys the original intent of the artist. On the other hand, the con-artist forges the painting motivated by greed, deceit, and thievery. Therefore, the energy of the forgery does not convey the original intent of the artist.

That is to say, while the forgery displays the same imagery as the original and may therefore evoke Feelings of Joy and Appreciation of Nature, it also exposes the viewer to the energies of greed, deceit, and thievery imparted to the forgery by the con-artist. In so doing, the forgery not only exposes the viewer to conflicting energies but it also purveys the false perception that greed, deceit, and thievery are part and parcel of developing an appreciation of Nature.

While contemplation of the authentic painting could help someone awaken to a True and accurate appreciation of Nature, contemplation of the forgery could only lead one astray or reinforce an already existing misconception.

Therein lays, as I currently understand it, the real fraud and crime perpetuated by the unrighteous / unholy against the People:

- the false representation that their forgeries of Universal Law, Truth, Love, and of the Natural Frequencies of Creation are Real / Authentic and therefore are carriers of the Original Intent and Authority of Creator for us
- the use of these forgeries to defraud us of our resources and enslave us in their ways
- the use of these forgeries as carriers of their deception and ill will toward us
- the use of these forgeries to interfere with our capacity to Know Truth, walk Harmoniously with Creation and Creator, and to have a Peaceful and Respectful experience of Life upon Earth in the Abundance of Creator

- the false witness they present against Creator and His Creation and the animosity that this causes toward Creator

Just as in the example of the painting, the only way the recipients of the forgery can end the damage, is by recognizing the painting for the forgery it is and trashing it, so too, the only way us the People can end the damage caused by the fraud imposed upon us, is to recognize it as such and trash it. Yes, it is a painful realization, but it has to be made if we are to find Truth once again. Yes, there is perhaps a lot of resources invested in the forgery, but as Father has explained, it is time to cut the losses and move on. Soon, the loss of hanging on to the forgery will far surpass the loss of letting it go.

Father has addressed this notion of ending our play in three ways:

1. Ending our receptivity to unrighteous / unholy play
2. Stopping going out to play with the unrighteous – unholy
3. Ending our own unrighteous - unholy play

In other words, stop accepting forgeries or believing in what the unrighteous - unholy say and teach us, stop leaving Father's Garden in pursuit of false truths and riches, and stop incorporating deception in our behavior.

Ending the play - continued

120111

It may seem tantalizing for some, to utilize the information in my last entry to legally go after all the unrighteous / unholy and their purveyors who manufacture and produce all sorts of forgeries which are then marketed / imposed upon us as if they were Real and Authentic and therefore harmless or beneficial to our Health and Soul. It is however important to recognize, that in explaining how to end our play, Father has indicated that "going out to get them" is a trap. This is in actuality the mistake those who are now known as death, decay, and destruction made when they decided to go after darkness to "bring them to justice" and "protect other races." By turning their focus on that which they desired to end, they became like it.

Father would have us do things differently. He would have us turn our focus on Him so that we can re-awaken to the Truth of Who We Are. In so doing, the unrighteous / unholy become non to our existence.

Here are three examples that will help make this understanding more tangible.

When I was in Argentina, before Linda and I met, I participated in one missionary trip with the catholic church (yes, I have recovered from catholicism). During this trip, the head priest in charge of the mission was given permission by the tribal council to visit three native villages.

Upon entering the first village, it was obvious to me that things were not going well for them. Their wooden huts were in disrepair, the grounds overgrown and dirty, People were sick, and poverty was palpable. What appeared to be the center of the village actually contained a brick and mortar building which I took to be some kind of school. We were greeted by various People who were very glad to see us. They were totally receptive to all the priest was saying and when the priest suggested a procession be made to "bless" their village, they all gladly accepted and participated. That was day one.

Day two had us go to a second village, this time without the head priest. We were told to arrive early and we did. In fact we arrived so early, that we caught the village asleep. To my surprise, this village was clean, very well taken care of, and organized. There was no indication of any kind of western structure within its boundaries.

As soon as our presence was noticed, we were readily directed to the main wooden hut and elders were notified of our presence. Soon thereafter, elders made themselves present and we were in a circle with many other villagers. These People were healthy and well nourished. The head elder did not speak Spanish, or if he did, he refused to address us in anything other than his native tongue. A translator within the tribe was our intermediary and asked us to explain our unexpected presence. The leader of our group did so and asked for permission to "preach and spread the word" to tribe members. The elder rejected the request and explained to us that they valued their traditions and that while they respected ours, they would not allow contamination. He then proceeded to sing in his native tongue. For all that I know, he may have been singing to cast evil out, or to request protection from Creator, or to inform village members how to not play and remain unreceptive to us. When the song was over, they allowed our group to sing one song and soon thereafter expediently asked us to leave. That was day two.

Day three came along and I found myself once again as part of the group assigned to visit the native villages. This day, the head priest and his helper were present because he had a particularly strong interest in establishing contact with this village. As we did the day before, we drove to the general location and then followed by foot. This time however, we were not able to find the entrance road to the village. We went back and forth several times looking for it, but the entrance was nowhere to be seen. There was no door through which we could enter into their reality. The helper priest thought it was the devil interfering, but the older priest knew better. By then, I knew better as well. That was day three.

Missionary trip with commentaries

120411

The progression of learning how to stop playing so as to become non to the unrighteous / unholy, is well illustrated in the three experiences I shared in my last entry.

All three villages where in the same area, same jungle, same conditions, yet each living a completely different reality based on where their focus was.

The first village had succumbed to accepting a culture alien to their ways of life. This was symbolized by the presence of the school building in their village. Having given away their True ways in exchange for what was alien to them made it possible for disrepair, misguidance, ill health, malnourishment, and poverty to set in. Having learned to look outside themselves for the answer, they also became receptive to religious promises of deliverance from all their ailments. It is very likely that People in this village will remain trapped until the day they recognize that giving away their Abundance and True Nature to those who trick them into doing so, leads only to poverty indebtedness.

This is well illustrated by another experience I had during this visit. While there, the priest was asked to visit a sick woman laying inside a hut. To my surprise, the priest asked me to go with him so I did. Once inside, the priest asked the woman a few questions and offered her aspirin. The woman accepted the aspirin and took it. Soon thereafter, the priest gave me the remaining aspirin, said a few more words, and indicated it was time to leave. Later that day, after all had been said and done, the priest asked me if I had returned the aspirin to the woman. I was certainly puzzled by his question. "Why would I if it is yours?", I replied. Well, as it turns out, the aspirin actually belonged to the villagers. All he did was get it from them and then offer some of it back. Being unaware of this, I mistakenly assumed the aspirin to be a "contribution of the church" and therefore belong to the priest.

Now, to the benefit of the priest, he did say he would return the aspirin. However, the pattern is certainly recognizable. Take from the People what is theirs, give some of it back, and then use clueless, but well intended People like I was at that time, to complete the pilfering. Even though the villagers probably felt good about the visit, the Truth remains that they were in greater poverty when we left than before our arrival.

This story helps us recognize some of the necessary steps in our progression to end our play:

- stop looking unto others / alien cultures for the answer
- stop giving our resources away
- stop being the clueless and well intended that make it possible for the unrighteous - unholy to pilfer People's resources

Missionary trip with commentaries - continued

120711

Before I move unto the second village it feels appropriate to elaborate a little bit more regarding the "aspirin story" shared in my last entry.

If you were to ask me, I can honestly say I didn't know the aspirin belonged to the villagers and that I was supposed to give it back to them. Yet the fact remains that while I wouldn't have done it of my own accord, I still unknowingly allowed myself to be used as an instrument to steal from these People.

If you were to ask the priest through whom I was set up for the theft, he could easily and perhaps even honestly say he never thought it possible that someone within his group would be capable and willing to steal. Perhaps even worse, had it been necessary, he could have easily distanced himself from the event and let me take the full blame for what happened. And, perhaps even more importantly, he could have easily used this event and his choice to return the aspirin as a way to enhance his "benevolent" appearance to the villagers and gain greater trust from them. Never mind, the whole event could have been masterminded so as to make such inroad. Having no Spiritual Discernment active and present, these villagers could have easily fallen for the trap - just like I did. And while it may be the case that the priest never had the intent to take anything from the villagers or to set me up to do it, the fact remains that he allowed himself to be used as well. The end result was the same.

The unrighteous / unholy are very good at setting us up to act against each other and make it look as if we are to blame for such behavior, yet they remain the master-minders. The actual instigators, the actual thieves, the actual deceivers.

To be restored to the Truth of Who We Are requires of a necessity that we no longer allow the unrighteous / unholy to use us. To end our little "p" play, is to end our willing or unwilling, conscious or unconscious participation in their traps. Whether in business or everyday life, the day must indeed arrive in which we stop acting against each other. The day must arrive in which we stop allowing the false witness presented by the unrighteous / unholy to guide our decisions. The day must arrive in which we are no longer deceived by the "devil's smile".

Missionary trip with commentaries - continued - part 2

121311

Within the context of the example of the first village, it could perhaps be misconstrued that to "stop looking unto alien cultures for the answer" means for example that native cultures should not look toward western or asian cultures for the answer, or that western cultures should not look toward asian or native cultures for the answer. Yet we must see beyond this.

In the exploration of the word "Pure" in my "Pure-Pose" entry, I suggested, based on dictionary definitions, that what is alien to us the People is that which is unnatural, contrary to the laws of nature, inhuman, and artificial.

Therefore, to stop looking at alien cultures for the answer, is to recognize that an unnatural way of life that is contrary to the laws of nature and therefore inhuman and artificial to us, is actually the cause of our problems. It is to stop looking at the cause of our problems for the answer and to turn our awareness and focus back to a way of Life that brings forth the Truth of Who We Are.

This Truth of Who We Are, or the Divine, "manifests" as Father Says "in multiple ways, in multiple cultures. ... each unto its own way of perception."

Thus, while differences will be seen between western cultures and eastern cultures, southern cultures and northern cultures, there is a common thread of Right Livelihood. This common thread is an expression of our Humanity and it manifests as Right Thinking, Right Action, and Right Manifestation of Father's Good Will for us the People: Respect, Integrity, Abundance, Joy, Peace, Harmony, Creativity, Sovereign Expression, Health, and the Ability to plain and simply InJoy the Blessings of Creation in a way that is Harmonious with Universal Law, Universal Truth, and Universal Love.

Missionary trip with commentaries - Village 2

121711

As you may recall, village two was characterized by a clean environment with healthy People who Respected and Valued themselves, their traditions, and their surroundings. This was in direct contradistinction to the first village where sickness, famine, and lack of direction / identity was apparent.

From my perspective, the second village is representative of what can be expected as we begin to end our little "p" play and begin to big "P" Play in a way that is Harmonious with Universal Truth, Universal Love, and Universal Law. Not in the sense that we must return to wooden huts and semi naked living, but in the sense of a Life that is ever more Harmonious with Creation and therefore is non destructive / non consumptive / non polluting.

As Father has Said, "the Divine manifests in multiple ways, in multiple cultures. ... each unto its own way of perception," and while to industrialized nations this native way of life is considered primitive and perhaps even brute, it is the case that People in this village are light years ahead of industrialized nations when it comes to living a "green life". Their environment was clean and lush, food was natural and healthy (probably vastly surpassing our concept of "organic"), their housing was made of all natural, non toxic materials, they did not have polluting industries, there was no sign of trash piling up in ever increasing heights, there was no signs of plastics, and there was no sign of anyone being in conflict with Nature. Furthermore, their environment was natural and humid, free of air, electronic, and noise pollution that hinders the receptivity of the current sea.

Yet, as I understand this now, it is not just the condition of the external environment that accounts for the Health and Abundance of these People. After all, People in the first village shared a similar environment yet lived in poverty and sickness.

So what made the difference? I would suggest it is in the inner environment of the People where the explanation can be found. I will explore this more in my next entry.

Missionary trip with commentaries - Village 2 continued

121811

If the environment in which both villagers lived is the same, what makes it then possible for one to thrive and another to flounder? I would suggest the answer to this can be found in the internal environment of the People. It is at this inner level that Father invites us to make a change and return to the Truth of Who We Are.

You may recall that attitude ¹⁰ is a key factor that affects our capacity to receive current sea (see "Unconventional Wisdom - part 16" ¹¹) series. When our attitude is correct our body and mental outlook become aligned in such a way as to enhance our reception of current sea and thus be Harmonious with the "flow of Creation".

Figuratively and practically speaking, it can be said that People in the first village had an "attitude problem". That is to say, their relationship with Creation / Creator and therefore themselves as individuals and their environment had gone awry or amiss. Lacking inner Proper Direction, they looked to external sources for it. This was represented by the presence of the school and their embrace of religion. Even though they still lived in the garden, they had lost the capacity of InJoying it in the Abundance of the Father. Migrating to towns and cities would probably be the next step in their devolution.

Contrary to this, People in the second village had successfully either maintained or recovered a more Proper relationship with Creation / Creator, themselves, and their environment. This was represented on one level by their choice to remain True to their Wisdom rather than allowing religion and schooling to make an inroad. On another level it was represented by their capacity to live in Abundance, not as counted by money in the bank or a life surrounded by hazardous waste, but as manifested by their increased reception of current sea and the health, strength, and Wisdom that this brings.

¹⁰ <http://bluestarway.com/bluestarblog/index.php?post/2010/03/11/Mystery-and-Beauty>

¹¹ <http://bluestarway.com/bluestarblog/index.php?post/2011/10/01/Unconventional-Wisdom-Part-16>

In other words, these People not only lived in the garden but were capable of InJoying it in the Abundance of the Father, although in a reduced manner. Greater capacity to experience and manifest their True Nature and receive the Blessing of such Life would probably be the next step in their evolution.

Missionary trip with commentaries - Village 2 - more

122011

As indicated before, concurrently to a Proper attitude of Thanks Giving to the Father, it is important to put an end to or prevent the squandering of resources.

When People in the second village chose not to participate in the serpent's play, they did more than just stand True to their own relationship with Creation / Creator. They chose to retain claim to their Abundance. How so?

In a nutshell, the church would have made an inroad and would have began to extract resources from them in the form of "offerings", focus, attention, time, and labor.

In a more descriptive way, this is how the process could have taken place had they "gone out to play" and welcome this version of the serpent in their lives.

- One, by embracing deception and making it more important than Universal Truth of themselves and their relationship with Creation / Creator, they would have worsened whatever degree of "attitude problem" they had. This would have worsened their misalignment with the "flow of Creation" and in turn would have began to reduce the amount of current sea they could receive. Father calls this leaning. Whether it is a "loved one", or a child, or a god, when someone makes them more important than Self, a misalignment occurs that diminishes one's capacity to be in the "flow of Creation". Malnourishment and famine follow this choice.
- Two, the guilt, shame, and doubt that such alien perception brings, generates pain, anger, sorrow, and self condemnation. These are all emotions detrimental to Life because they transform healthy current sea that nourishes body and Soul to unhealthy energy that feeds the unrighteous / unholy.

- Three, concurrently with the weakening of their body and Soul and the resulting strengthening of unrighteous / unholy presence, they would have begun to see themselves unworthy of Father's Abundance. In unworthiness, they would have begun to deprive themselves - increasing famine of body and Soul. Surrounded by Abundance, they would have begun to live in ever increasing poverty, just like People in the first village.
- Four, as their communion with Creation / Creator diminishes, they would see their Wisdom begin to fade, thus becoming ever more dependent on someone else for the answer. The lack of inner Guidance and Direction facilitates the purveyors of unrighteous / unholy who promulgate false redemption and destructive technology as the answer to People's problems.
- Five, as an external manifestation of this internal squandering, they would also begin to give away physical resources, such as food, labor, valuables, to appease / please this new "god" and its purveyors. The increasing level of inner poverty would also then begin to manifest as a decrease in the nourishing value of the food they receive from their environment. There is no longer enough to satiate the hunger and "inventions" would become necessary to improve yields and productivity. The jungle is becoming a desert.
- Six, as poverty increases, their vulnerability to the mercantile game of poverty indebtedness increases. Now money is needed to make up for that which is being lost and the extra needs are met at the expense of others. Life becomes unsustainable and consumptive.
- Seven, as famine and unrighteous / unholy activity continues to increase, some would begin direct energy thievery. "As it was done to them, so it is done to others", the golden rule by which the world lives. Seduction, deception, control, manipulation, and violence, would become a part of every day life, for these trick others into becoming a source of energetic food.

As you can see, the village elders were wise indeed in not allowing the "oh so well intended" missionary group to "come out to play" that day. Good for them.

Missionary trip with commentaries - Village 3

122111

Village 3 represents one step further in the Progression to expressing the Truth of Who We Are. People in this village had either attained or retained such close relationship with Creation / Creator and their True Nature, that they were simply unavailable to the unrighteous / unholy. No matter how hard the priest and his helper tried to find them that day, these People remained unavailable... nothing more than a myth.

This is why getting rid of the unrighteous / unholy through resistance and battle is unnecessary when one focuses on returning to the Truth of Who One Is.

As us the People make manifesting the Truth of Who We Are as the Honest, Honorable, Peaceful, Joyous, Harmonious, Creative Humans that we are more important than anything else, as we withdraw our participation from the little "p" play and prepare / strengthen ourselves for big "P" Playing, as we end squandering our resources / feeding the unrighteous / unholy and redevelop our capacity to Properly Nourish our Soul, we will see the unrighteous / unholy presence and their influence over us begin to diminish until the day they fade away into the nothingness from which they came.

Father describes this process as dissolving the door that never existed and it is for us the People to accomplish on a planetary level. In other words, rather than attempting to become a "type 3" civilization that would become the "bridge" for the unrighteous / unholy to contaminate other planets, we should Whole-Heartedly become "Village 3 People".

Missionary trip with commentaries - Village 3 - continued

122211

In my simple recount of my experience or perhaps better said non experience with People in the third village note the following:

- when we could not find our way to village 3, no one from this village came to show us the way and invite us in. Politeness to those who come to destroy you is a deception.
- there was no dissent / jealousy / power struggle within these People that the unrighteous / unholy could have exploited, no pun intended. Had there been such, the dissenting person would have become the one to ensure the village was found.
- People in this village were not fooled by the innocence of some within the missionary group and did not allow such innocence to be used as a means to establish contact. The use of "intermediaries" is a well established pattern of unrighteous / unholy activity. The unrighteous / unholy have difficulties finding those who do not little "p" play, so they use "locals" as the "bridge" between realities. It would do us the People well to recognize this pattern so we may stop first, allowing ourselves to be used as a "bridge" or "agent" and second, allowing a "bridge" or "agent" to be used against us.

Missionary trip with commentaries - Village 3 - one last comment

122311

It is commonly said by experts that children need to be acquainted with the harshness of "reality" as soon as possible rather than keeping them in a "bubble" of "deception". This they say, will help them cope better with the "real world"... well, could it be that perhaps, as People in this third village so well exemplified by their absence, that it is in the "real world" where deception lies and that real Wisdom abides in the capacity to not little "p" play?

Happy solstice day in the Father Way of Truth.

About the Authors

Linda Diane Mead was born and raised in these United States of America. She obtained an under-graduate degree in Psychology with a minor in Philosophy and a PhD in Metaphysics from a Theological School.

Martin Riedel was born in Argentina, South America, and lived in Uruguay and Mexico as he grew up. After beginning college in Mexico he came to these United States of America, where he graduated with a degree in Chemical Engineering.

Upon meeting, they embarked on a memorable journey of self discovery that took them across the States. This book is one of the many fruits of their 'Labour of Love.'

Linda left the material plane in 2014.

