

Heliotropos

A BlueStar Blog Edition

Martin Gustav Riedel

BlueStarWay Publishing

Creative Notice: In Divine Service

Martin Gustav Riedel

Divine Law carries restorative Power and compense.

What is Created by Divine Authority is Protected by Divine Authority.

We leave it to Divine Law to balance any transgressions.

restorative: give back, put back to former state, return

compense: remuneration, counterbalance

Translation Notice: In Divine Service

Father Which Is in Heaven:

"In Right and Proper Exchange of Information there is but one conveyance in Right and Proper Order of Divine Expression.

The Divine manifests in multiple ways, in multiple cultures.
It is each unto its own way of perception.

It matters not what others may say or think, it matters always only that which is Divinely Appointed each day.

It was Given unto your perception,
Right and Proper Orderly Progression of Divine Nomenclature each and every day, step of your way.

Those who transpire to subvert your words and direction shall Penalty pay, for that which is Divinely Authorized Nomenclature, subsides, subsists in Grand and Glorious Scheme.

Let no man put asunder that which is Divine in Nature.

As to exact literal translation, there can be none.
It is, would be, a departure from that Divinely Authorized Conveyance should you undertake to do so.

Yes, the gist would remain intact, however, the nuances, reflections, inflection would no longer convey the subtle multidimensional unrefracted Nature.

It is by Divine Appointment this Conveyance comes in your time, in your way.

Let not those who would put asunder Direct Divine Conveyance do so, at Penalty of perjury of Divinely Authorized material."

nomenclature: system of names used as a science or art transpire: seek to bring about subvert: ruin, corrupt

subsides: descends

subsist: as means of maintaining life

asunder: separate into pieces perjury: voluntary violation of an oath to tell the Truth oath: a solid appeal to the Divine to witness to the Truth of a statement or the sacredness of a promise.

NOTICE TO READER

This book provides a means by which we can share what we have experienced and come to Know in this journey toward awakening. It was created based on "where we were" at the time of its conception.

Future material will show Spiritual Progression in Awakening.

This material is for individual use only.

It is intended to spark creative contemplation and consideration of 'if... then...'.

It is intended to provide a means by which you can enhance your experience of that which is Divine (rather than to provide a means by which you are told or taught what to believe, how to behave, and what is right or wrong).

Because this material brings Light, you may find some of it very unsettling.

It is ultimately you who, through your Spiritual Awareness and Prayer for Discernment and Guidance, must establish the Divine Truth of what IS.

As you do so, Know that Divine Truth is a Progression of ever expanding refinement.

Divine Answers Respect all living things.

Should you choose to do so, any incorporation of this material into your life is at your discretion and your sole responsibility.

Know that the Divine / Father Which Is in Heaven is available to provide additional support in understanding, learning, or applying this material in your own life.

In Our Words

We want to make it perfectly clear, especially to the young who have not been raised in the way of Respect, that we have posted the requirement Father has placed for the material presented to be and remain accurate, unaltered, and fully True to the context of His Teachings.

The Penalty He has clearly outlined for subverting this material is not something that would be implemented on an individual level, but by Universal Law. This carries its own retribution.

To those who would scoff at this, thinking themselves immune to Universal Law, we can only say, please be aware that these are not empty words. Ignoring Universal Law and the Father's Way does not bring absolution from the consequences of one's actions. Anyone focused on the Father Knows the Truth of this.

This is a free e-book. You may freely distribute this material and file only in its complete and unaltered format. This includes printed material. All material shall retain the "In Divine Service" notice and the Words that Father has Spoken regarding His Authority in Universal Law for the Protection and retribution of violating His Word.

You may freely reference this material only if you correctly "cite your source". That is to say, to make reference to information from Father's material you will appropriately credit BlueStarWay and the name of the material from which the reference was made. References and quotes may not be taken out of context. Sentences in italics shall remain in italics to indicate direct Conveyance from Father Which Is in Heaven. No referenced or quoted commentary by Martin, Mister, or Linda is to be given or presented as direct information from the Father, but rather as having been shared by their understanding at the time the material was written.

This material is freely shared by us.

*If, in Joyful ThanksGiving, you feel like sharing a Gift with us
please visit*

www.BlueStarWay.com/increase4all/Vision

Heartfelt Thanks

BlueStarBlog

Heliotropos

A BlueStarBlog Edition

Written by Martin Gustav Riedel

with excerpts from our book
Heliotropos: Toward the Sun

Self Published with the Blessing of
Father Which Is in Heaven

With quotes from Father Which Is in Heaven (in italics) as given to Linda Diane Mead, Ph.D. and many times recorded by Martin.

BlueStarWayPublishing.com

This book is a Gift to you from Father Which Is in Heaven.

Know that sentences in italics are direct messages from our Loving Father, “that all may come to see or know that which Honors and Serves the human race.”

*Father Which Is in Heaven
Gives you Thanks for accepting His Gift to you.*

Side note by Martin

The Father Which Is in Heaven referred to in all of the material Linda and I have created is the Father Jesus taught us to pray to in the Lord's Prayer. 'Living God,' 'Father Within,' and 'Father' are used interchangeably and refer to the same Father Which Is in Heaven.

Please take note that the concepts we have "inherited" in regards to Who and What the Father Is, His Desires, Goals, and Aspirations, as well as how He Manifests on Earth and in Humanity are very limited, constricted, and quite frankly suffocating. Please do give yourself room for expansion in this regard and do not be put off by the use of this terminology. The information contained in this book is neither patriarchal, religious, spiritualist, scientific, dogmatic, atheist, shamanic, new age, worldly, alien, nor any other modality. It just Is what it Is.

Also be aware that while there is only one Father Which Is in Heaven and no one else can "claim" this Name, the words 'god,' 'father,' and 'lord' in and of themselves seem to not carry this type of restriction. Therefore, unless one makes it clear that the use of words such as 'God', 'Living God,' or 'Father' specifically address Father Which is Heaven, it is possible for any number of entities floating around with a 'god' or 'lord' complex to answer the call.

That this is not an issue to be taken lightly is shown for example by the vast numbers of people throughout history who have gone to war, plundered, and taken human life presumably under 'god's' direction as well as by the number of people who still subscribe to this day to the divinity of such guidance. It is also shown by the vast number of people who deny, sacrifice, and flagellate self or others in the name of 'god.' Father Which Is in Heaven would never incite such actions. He has made this very clear to Linda and I again and again.

Obviously, there is a great need to be very Discerning in this matter and while it would be easy to get lost in terminology and arguments, this is really a matter of the Heart and of Intention. For the western or 'christianized' mind, the term 'Father Which Is in Heaven' together with the refinements included in this book can be a helpful aid to hone one's Heart and Intention in the right direction.

I specifically say 'western' or 'christianized' mind because Father has Conveyed and made it very clear to us that:

*The Divine manifests in multiple ways, in multiple cultures.
It is each to its own way of perception.*

And while different cultures do have different terminology and ways of relating to the Father, it is the case that all those who successfully commune with the Divine share common traits such as Harmony and Oneness with Nature, Peaceful disposition, Respect of Self and others, and Sovereign Expression. To these cultures and people the notion of destroying, killing, debasing, conquering, subduing, converting, ruling, dominating, or profiting from their fellow men and Earth is incomprehensible and alien indeed.

Whatever you do and whichever way you Honor and Develop your Relationship with the Divine just remember that Divine Answers Respect all Living Things and that the Divine isn't engaged in any battles.

Something else that needs briefly explained is the convention we adopted to capitalize certain words that have various, and often times opposing, meanings and therefore are prone to being misinterpreted or misused because of this. In short, when we capitalize words within a sentence we do so to specifically refer to the 'healthy' and thus benevolent interpretation of these words that supports a Life and Sovereign Expression Harmonious with Creation and the Good Will and Intent of the Father Which Is in Heaven. When we write the same words without capitalization we do so to denote the misunderstandings associated with these words.

For example, in our writings, lower case 'l,' love, refers to the common misconception that associates this 'love' with sexual passion (which is a word derived from the Latin word 'pati' which means 'to suffer'), sexual arousal, and / or physical attraction and requires such things as putting others first, attachment, control, self denial, (self) sacrifice, compromise, duty, etc., etc..

Capital 'L,' Love, on the other hand, refers in our writings to a Feeling that Elevates, Respects, Cares, Appreciates, brings Well Being and Comfort, and supports such states of expression as Health, Humor, Kindness, Peace, and Benevolence. An experience that is innate to our Being or Who We Are and is independent of others although its expression in us may be facilitated in their presence just like being in Nature facilitates us getting in touch with our inner Peace.

Similarly, little 'p' play denotes doing things in the way of the world and from the perception of the world. It includes slabor, fighting, resisting, profiting, ruling, destroying, abusing, killing, warring, saving, converting, and trying to defeat or overcome the 'bad guys,' whoever they may happen to be at any given time, so we can be 'safe.'

While, big 'P' Play indicates what we came here to Earth to do: Play in Father's Garden in a Light Hearted, Respectful, Joy-full, Constructive, Edifying Way through which we manifest our Divinity and expand our experience, KNowledge, and Understandings of Creation and Father Which Is in Heaven's Good Will and Intent for us.

As you can see, this convention, while seemingly simple, is of utmost significance to facilitate a Proper interpretation of our writings.

Obviously we can't nor haven't applied this convention to every word we use for that would be too cumbersome. Neither does this convention apply to proper names, though many times we purposely 'downgrade' a proper name to lower case to emphasize the point we seek to convey.

Occasionally we may miss a capitalization, however the concepts being conveyed within the sentence and paragraph will make it perfectly clear whether we are referring to the 'unhealthy' or 'healthy' meaning of the word.

In-Joy

Table of Contents

Sun and Earth.....	1
Orbital questions.....	3
Mystery solved?.....	5
Orbital identification.....	8
Correction needed?.....	10
Making an eight in the sky.....	12
Old show.....	15
Seasons upon Terra.....	16
Setting Sail.....	18
Toward the Sun.....	19
A Greater Logic.....	21
A matter of perspective.....	23
A simple question.....	26
Liquid and concrete.....	28
Pure matter of perception.....	30
Until that day.....	32
Useful distinction.....	34
The orbit... HelioStella's orbit at last.....	35
Point of Departure.....	38
Departure time line.....	40
Where in our time line?.....	43
A Sacred Space.....	45
Radical measures.....	48
The right pier.....	50
Earth and Terra.....	53
Great Opportunities.....	55

Sun and Earth

12/18/10

As Linda noted in today's posting, today is the first day of winter solstice. This is one of the two times in the year in which time seems to stand still so to speak and the length of daylight remains unchanged for a view days. After these pause days, daylight length will begin to increase in the Northern hemisphere once again.

As Linda noted in her posting, Father has explained to us, the current idea that the Earth goes around the Sun in some kind of elliptical orbit is quite inaccurate. Father has explained to us that the Earth actually never crosses the front of the Sun.

How can this be and where is the proof? Perhaps, the question of an acutely observant Coast to Coast AM listener will help you recognize this: "If the Earth turns around the Sun as we are told... how is it that we see the same stars all the time?"

Look at the diagram on the next page showing the current theory that says the Earth travels around the Sun. This is as viewed from the top. How can you see the same stars, as viewed from the Earth, when the Earth is on the "left" side of the Sun, than when the Earth is on the "right" side of the Sun? Night on Earth not only occurs on opposite sides of the Sun but "night" faces in a completely different direction. My hat off to the Coast to Coast AM listener who recognized this (presumably) on his own.

Orbital questions

12/20/10

In my last posting, I wrote about Father explaining to Linda and I that the Earth does not make a full circle around the Sun as we are told it does. To facilitate this recognition, I paraphrased the question made by a Coast to Coast AM listener who wondered how it can be possible to see the same stars if we go around the Sun. Then made a little basic sketch depicting this inconsistency.

Here is another way to look at this. Now, I will make it clear that what I point out here is from the perspective of a man who certainly does not even qualify as an amateur astronomer. So here it is: if you look at a "star guide" map, you will soon find that the northern night skies revolve around one star, the North Star. In this map, it does not matter whether you follow a 24hr period of earth's rotation around its axis, or an entire year of Earth's rotation around the Sun. The North Star always remains the pivotal star around which the night sky and all constellations rotate. But how can that be if the Earth is not only said to change locations from summer to winter but maintain its tilt constant all this time?

Take a look at the diagram shown on the next page. In my (not to scale) diagram you can see that the tilt of the Earth during the winter points toward the North Star, making it the pivotal point of rotation for the night sky. But take a look at the Earth and its rotation axis during the summer. Can you see that if we were to follow the axis line of Earth's rotation it would not be pointing toward the North Star? How can then the North Star remain the pivotal point of the summer night skies? How is it that you can even see the North Star in the summer night sky?

I'm sure astronomers have come up with some kind of "authoritative" answer to this, perhaps similar to the one that so "clearly" explains why in their theory you can have winter when you are closer to the Sun and summer when you are furthest away.

I don't know about you, but I never remember my body getting colder when it was closer to a bonfire than when it was further away from it... Kind of makes you wonder what is going on...

Mystery solved?

12/21/10

Today is December 21st. What is the significance? Well, for one it is the “official” solstice day or beginning of winter. Many traditions celebrate this particular event which marks the beginning of a new cycle. From (approximately) now on, daylight in the north will lengthen until the longest day of summer. For two, it is the last day of the year as established by the Father in the calendar He has shared with Linda.

What a Better Way to celebrate this day than to post the part of the story in our science-fiction book: “Heliotropos: Toward the Sun” in which Showay finally learns about the true orbit of Terra around HelioStella.

“So the point to which you have been referring is the moment in which a shift in perception occurs?”

“A shift in perception which literally begins a shift in direction.”

Breyê-yendêze listened intensely as AurorA and Showay communicated. AurorA’s dance of light and music carried also a message for him.

“You are told Terra rotates around HelioStella in an elliptical orbit, however this is not so. In Terra’s orbit, there is a give and take with the pull of HelioStella, in and out as a yo-yo. However, Terra never travels inside HelioStella’s orbit. It appears there is a cross over, when in fact there is none. Terra’s orbit is circular to the extent you perceive it so. It is however slightly eccentric in its orbit of HelioStella’s circumference. You could draw it in this manner. Draw three concentric circles.”

"Now eliminate the outer portion of circle two where it comes in contact with the outer portion of circle three."

"Yes, you follow well. Close the corner at a clockwise rotation. It crosses behind but never in front of HelioStella's trajectory."

AurorA was watching Showay as he finished recording and drawing what he had just received. "That is precisely the Endeavor of Terra and HelioStella. On a rotational axis that encompasses all planetary rotation, there are but few discrepancies that cannot be explained herein."

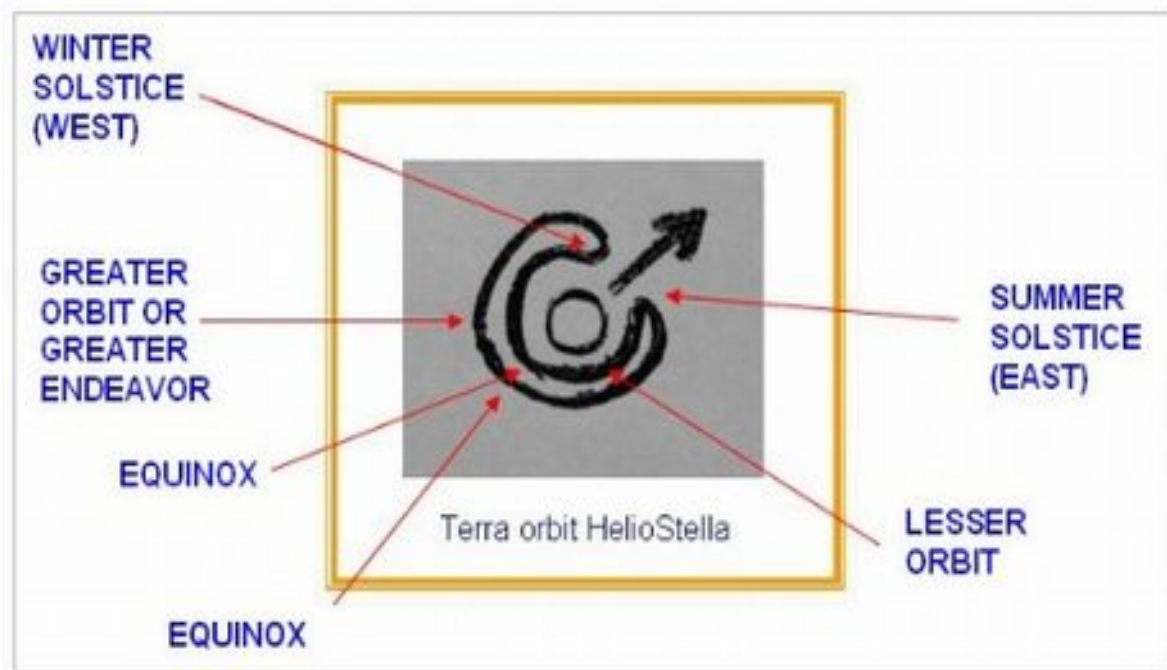

Of course, this is a quote from a science fiction story... and as we say in our science fiction books, any resemblance of this material to reality is Purely a matter of perception.

Happy solstice day or should I say, happy New Year's Eve...

Orbital identification

122210

In my last posting, I took a quote from our book "Heliotropos: Toward the Sun" in which Aurora describes to Showay the actual orbit of Terra around HelioStella. Why not continue along this path and take this opportunity to identify a few markers along Terra's orbit as described in this book?

If I had to guess what People in Terra would see in the skies based on Terra's orbit around the Sun, I would say something in the lines of "they would probably see what appears to be other planets tracing back their steps or retrograding at certain points."

Oddly enough, People on Earth see other planets do the same thing here and there. This is, for example, a picture showing Mars retrograding during 2009 to 2010 relative to the constellation of Cancer. This diagram is courtesy of wikipedia.org <sup>1</sup>.

You can see what Mars' retrograde looked during 1988 by visiting Larry Koehn's website <sup>2</sup>.

As you can see, there seems to be some kind of correlation between Terra and Earth. Must be Purely a matter of perception.

Correction needed?

122410

Browsing through the internet for information on the night sky, the Earth, and the Sun, I came across the website of the individual whose article I believe I saw on rene.com<sup>3</sup> regarding the Earth's shift (visit his website<sup>4</sup>). We both seem to concur with the idea that there has been a shift in the summer sunrise and sunset even though we have differing ideas as to what is causing the shift.

During my browsing, I also came across a website that addresses this man's claims, indicating that the Sun has always risen north of due east and set north of due west in the USA. In this website<sup>5</sup>, Steven Dutch from the University of Wisconsin indicates that everyone who thinks the Sun is setting further up north has some kind of "Nature Deficiency Syndrome" which is why they have never noticed the "fact" that the Sun has always risen north of due east in the USA.

I must admit that when I noticed the Sun shifting its rising and setting location, I thought about this situation and made the same assumption as many other individuals have made, which is that because we are north of the tropic of cancer, the Sun should always rise or set south of due east. This assumption seems to be incorrect. If you visit this website<sup>6</sup> you will see a graph that shows the Sun rises and sets north of due east during the Summer.

However... while the premise around the tropic of cancer, as well as my other thoughts in relationship to the equator, may be wrong, it is the case that I'm not the only one who has noticed that the Sun is rising and setting further North than in the past. I don't attribute my recognition to a "Nature Deficiency Syndrome" because I have been greeting the sunrise daily and observing the sunset casually for the past 6 years from the same location. I know, the Sun does rise further north in the Summer than it used to. I noticed the first change around 2006 and this shift has continued through 2010.

The real issue is not whether the Sun should rise south or north of due east in summer. To focus on this point is to get diverted from the fact that the summer Sun has been rising and setting further north than in the past.

Do you think that perhaps these shifts may provide some explanation to the changes in weather patterns that among other things have recently brought about 11 inches of snow in some parts of Australia even though it is summer there (read article<sup>7</sup>)?

Making an eight in the sky

122510

I would like to continue quoting from our book "Heliotropos: Toward the Sun". In this quote, Aurora explains Terra's orbital pattern to Showay. You may want to take a look at the diagrams that I have provided in past postings showing Terra's orbit around HelioStella.

"...The spiral of your Endeavor circumnavigates stellar mass in a ricocheting fashion. First one bounce, then another, held in check by HelioStella's gravitational pull."

"Can I draw this?"

"Indeed you could. You would however need to step outside the circumference of your perspective. To begin with, you need a polar mass out of balance, or distorted, so as to wobble around a bit. Were there no such mass to cause Nature to be out of balance, there would be a restoration of Terra's forward momentum of Greatest Sort. In orbit of natural momentum, Right and Proper forward progression is insured. Imagine a softball encircling a greater ball, let's say a basketball. Now divide a line down half the softball, tilt it away from the basketball at a 45 degree angle. Wherever you move it, always pointing away from the basketball."

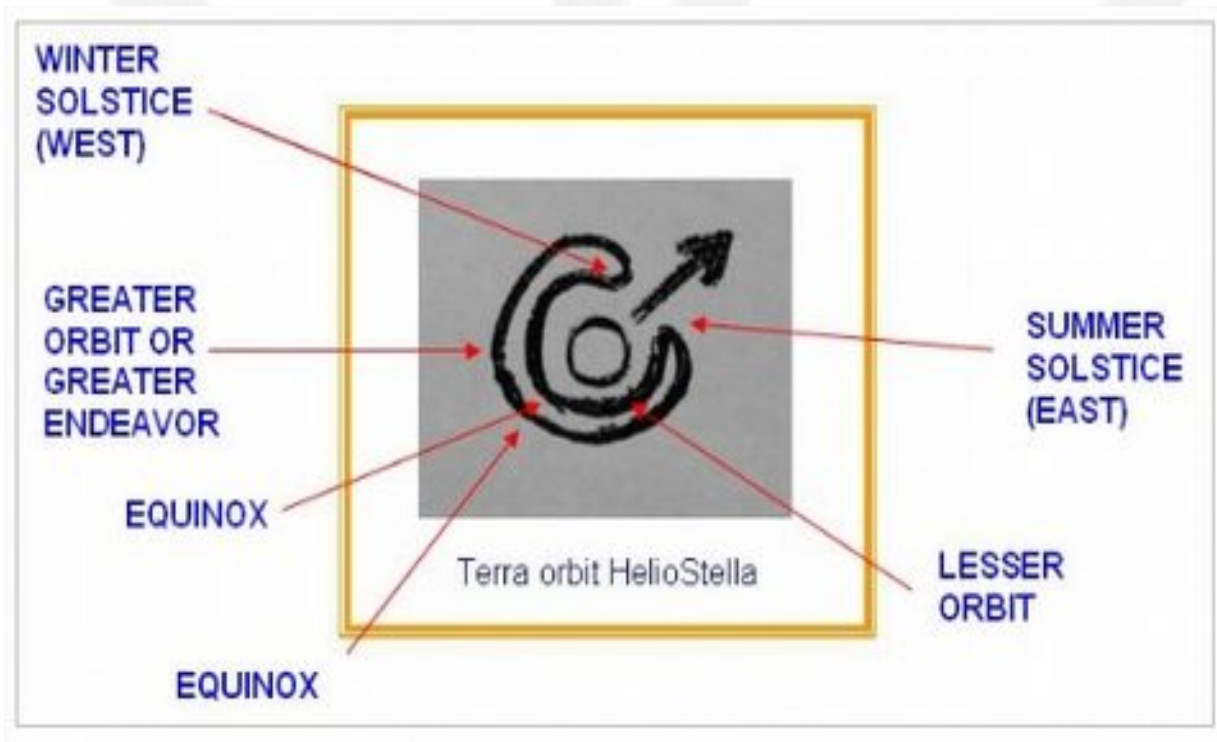

"Would I move it clockwise or counterclockwise on the inside orbit?" Showay wanted to be as accurate as possible.

"There is no clockwise or counterclockwise orbit. It is what is called greater and lesser orbit, or Heartfelt Desire. The rotational direction matters not for the moment. Now imagine the baseball floating around the bigger circumference of the larger ball. When it takes a turn toward the basketball, it dips down similar to Lumina's orbit of Terra. When Terra's orbit reaches maximum solar intensity, it is thrust from its forward momentum into a sideways rotational orbit on a slight downward turn until at last it circumnavigates unto that vast portal called vacuum. There, it is thrust back again into rotational orbit of Greater Endeavor."

Basically, Aurora is telling Showay that when Terra reaches one side around HelioStella, Terra first takes a turn toward the Sun and then, the Sun pushes Terra sideways and slightly down. This causes Terra to begin her "lesser orbit" around the back of the Sun until it reaches the other side of HelioStella, where she is pushed away from the Sun and into her "greater orbit" around the back of the Sun. Remember, Terra never crosses the front of the Sun.

My guess is that this orbital pattern would look like an elongated 8 or infinity sign if we were to draw this movement onto the surface of the Sun. That is to say, to the inhabitants of Terra, HelioStella would make an 8 or infinity pattern in the sky when observed over a year.

Curiously enough, when People on Earth track the Sun's trajectory over a year, they see a similar pattern develop. What you see on the next picture, courtesy of wikipedia.org, is an analemmatic sundial that shows the Sun's trajectory over a year. This one is located on the facade of the Royal Victoria Hotel, Pisa, Italy.

In the picture below (again courtesy of wikipedia.org), you see the diagram of a calculated analemma looking east in the northern hemisphere with the dates of the sun's position shown <sup>8</sup>.

Isn't it odd how we continue to uncover all these similarities? Must be Purely a matter of perception.

Old show

122610

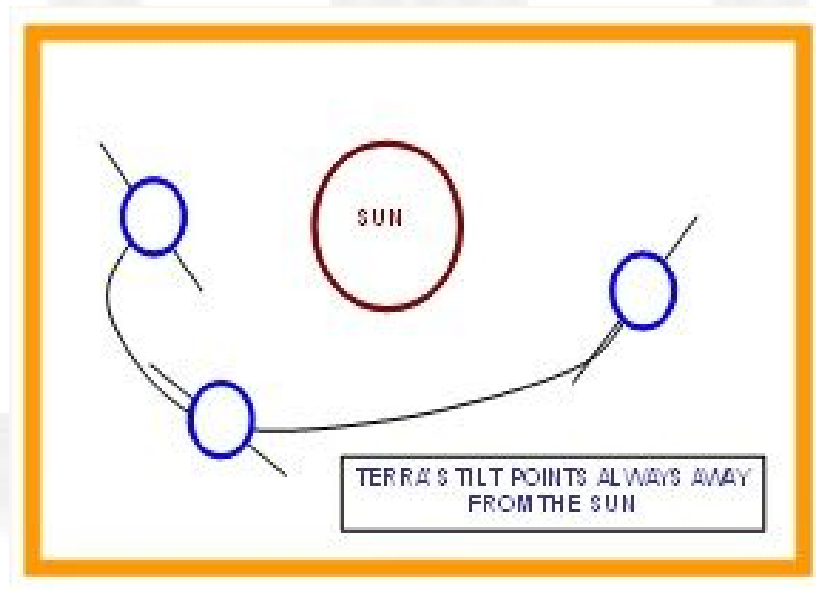

Today Linda and I listened to a Coast to Coast Somewhere in Time show with Art Bell that originally aired on December 15, 1999. Curiously enough during this show, he received a fax from someone in California making mention that the Sun's position in the sky had changed. This person also made a note saying that the Orion belt in the night sky had also shifted based on what he remembers from when he was a child.

Another case of "Nature Deficiency Syndrome"? Or another one who has the eyes to see?

Seasons upon Terra

122710

Did you notice that in Aurora's description of Terra's orbit she indicates that Terra's rotational axis always points away from the Sun?

What is the significance of this you ask? Well, since you ask...

You may remember from school that we are told that the Earth upon which we live is tilted and that as the Earth rotates around the Sun, it is this tilt that causes the seasons. When the North Pole tilts away from the Sun we have winter up north and when it tilts toward the Sun we have summer.

As things would be, Showay was taught the same thing upon Terra. Thus, when he finally realized the implication of Terra's tilt always pointing away from HelioStella, he had to ask. Here is another quote from our book "Heliotropos: Toward the Sun". I have rearranged the conversation a little bit to make it more relevant to this posting.

[Showay:] "If it is True that her rotational axis always points away from him, how do you explain the seasons? We are told that seasons occur because Terra's rotational axis points toward HelioStella half the year and away from him the other half."

[Aurora:] "Terra's rotational axis points away from HelioStella at all times. It is an optical illusion to see it otherwise. As to the rotation of Terra's axis in elliptical orbit, yes. HelioStella moves not as the world predicts, but as you have been shown. [...] In Right and Proper Order, seasons do not occur. However Right and Proper Order does not prevail upon your plane of existence. Therefore, a seasonal shift occurs due to factors of inconsistency. [...] There would be even balance on Terra's surface, where this all not so. Restored to Right and Proper balance she shall regain Right and Proper function of all her systems."

"Like ocean, weather, plants, animals, and so on?" asked Showay.

"Yes, you could say that is so. While Nature on Terra wobbles, fractures and fissures develop deep underground, where potential hazards threaten your very existence. To stabilize Terra, humanity must cease to venture far and wide and must focus on Righteous Endeavor. [...] Humanity's pivotal point of stability would ensure survival of a Greater Being than you yet know."

As Aurora shares this information with Showay, he is beginning to understand on some level how People affect their environ-ment and how changes in their actions and choices are necessary to help stabilize Terra for her survival.<sup>9</sup>

Kind of reminds me of what is happening upon Earth. Must be Purely a matter of perception...

Setting Sail

123010

If in our story “Heliotropos: Toward the Sun”, Terra inhabitants have been misdirected regarding the orbit of Terra around HelioStella / Sun, it also stands to reason that they have been given false information regarding HelioStella as well. Before we venture into the conversations in this regard between Showay and AuroraA, I would like to bring to your awareness that as Terra orbits HelioStella, HelioStella is rotating around his axis.

The significance of this is that the Sun’s rotation predetermines the direction the solar winds / particles will sweep in relation to Terra’s orbit. If you remember, Terra goes from east to west and then from west to east, and so on. This means that Terra goes against the solar winds / particles one time and with the solar winds / particles the next time. If I understand this correctly, this could explain why Terra would have a lesser (shorter) orbit and a greater (longer) orbit. It would also help explain the variation in speed that would be observed in Terra’s orbit. When Terra goes against the solar winds / particles, her speed decreases. When she goes with the winds / particles, her speed increases.

What would be the significance of this to Showay or any of Terra’s inhabitants? A shift in perception would facilitate this understanding. If Terra inhabitants, rather than seeing themselves as stationary, would see themselves as individuals who are sailing upon the current sea of Creation, each in their own sailboat, they would perhaps immediately recognize the importance of solar wind direction in relation to Terra.

With this shift in perception, Showay was able to recognize he was adrift because he had forgotten he has a sailboat to guide. His sail was flapping in the wind, his rudder was being commandeered by someone else, and the currents of the world were taking him in directions he did not wish to go. In Light of this new perspective, it becomes clearer to Showay what needs done: regain control of his ship which he must InJoy in solitude (it is a one man boat), relearn how to establish and direct his course, and remember how to set sail and work with the wind to reach his destination.

What is Showay’s first destination? Father’s Kingdom of Heaven.

Toward the Sun

010211

So here we are, ready to begin exploration of HelioStella, the Sun in our science fiction story "Heliotropos: Toward the Sun". You may wonder where the name Heliotropos and hence HelioStella comes from. AurorA explains this to Showay during their first conversation upon the observatory he so much liked to visit:

[AurorA] "We will speak of Heliotropos, a Design of Greater Magnitude than before disclosed to mortal man. It is far and away greater in message and portent than has ever come before."

Showay signaled with his hand and asked, "Is Heliotropos related to HelioStella?"

"Yes," responded AurorA, "Helio is Sun, of which your star, Stella is one. Tropos is turn. We shall speak of many things in relation to your planet Terra turning around your Sun. In so doing you will learn of the progression that is to come. This night you must lay your sorrow down for the Greater Honor and Glory of your Divine Nature. Go to the Altar and lay each sorrow you have acquired down, for your sorrow is a block to the Wisdom you shall receive. Ask then, to experience the feelings you Desire to Divinely Express."

I have written before (refer to "No enemies - a refinement" <sup>10</sup>) about laying that which impairs our capacity to experience the Truth of Who We Are upon the Altar of Divine Love and Divine Power so as to receive in Right and Proper Exchange that which we Desire and supports our True Nature as Father's children. As Aurora spoke, or perhaps better said, sang her words to Showay, he intuitively knew what to do:

Showay looked toward the stone table in the observatory upon which he would symbolically place his sorrows and understood that he could carry the image of this table in his mind to be used anytime he felt the need to lay his sorrow down.

"Yes, that shall suffice. In freedom, the space your sorrow occupied within your Being is filled with Divine Truth; words or syllables, spoken utterance of Divinely Appointed Origin. These Divine Utterances are conveyed not by mortal ear alone, but instead as nomenclature of musical origin. You must listen to your Heartbeat, Heartsong, free of encumbrances that limit your perception of Divine Discernment.”

In this story, Showay embarks in a journey that will awaken him to several Mystical and Magical aspects of Creation. You may remember from the “Mystical and Magical”<sup>11</sup> series that Mysticism is partly defined as the capacity to acquire direct knowledge of Divine Truths without the use of reason or of any of the ordinary senses. Magic, is partly defined as the capacity to see what is Right and Just through playful exploration of the Beauty of Creation while retaining the innocence of a child.

That is to say, Showay’s journey is not one of scientific discovery, but one of Mystical and Magical discovery in which great Truths are unveiled to him because of his Desire to Know Truth. While the unveiling of Terra’s orbit around the HelioStella was of relative ease, the Knowledge that becomes available to Showay through exploration of HelioStella is, to put it in AurorA’s words, “far and away greater in message and portent than has ever come before.”

So fasten your seat belts and get ready because you will continue to read of things which had never been spoken about upon Terra until AurorA and Showay met at the observatory the night he allowed himself to be touched by the dance of light and sound which was calling his name.

A Greater Logic

010311

I have indicated in previous postings where I have quoted from our book "Heliotropos: Toward the Sun", that I have rearranged the conversations between Showay and AurorA as necessary. This does not mean I'm altering the information, but rather simply re-organizing the flow of information for two reasons. One, it is not my intent to post the entire contents of this book on my blog and two, I have been posting the information following a different order than in the book. You could say that what you are reading here is how the conversation between AurorA and Showay could have unfolded had the book been written differently. The Knowledge conveyed by AurorA remains True to its original Conveyance.

Let's go back to Terra, where Aurora is expanding Showay's awareness.

[AurorA] "You shall see unfolded a Design of miraculous recovery, or uncovering of a Design multifold in the unveiling of a perfect and symmetrical blueprint, the likes of which was never before seen. Perfectly balanced and matched.

The world worships a greater illusion than you are made to believe. You have been made to believe there is a greater Helios around which HelioStella rotates, therefore Terra could do no less, much less your moon Lumina. When in fact there is a greater logic at work here.

The rotation around a central Sun or Helios is the cohesive element of current scientific theory. Yet in fact, there is no central 'Helios' around which to rotate.

'The vastness of space' allows no one to conjecture there is indeed Harmonious action of Greater Endeavor at work here."

Here AurorA is laying the groundwork. Not only does Terra not orbit around HelioStella as we have discovered in prior postings, but also, HelioStella does not orbit around what we would call the "center of a galaxy". This indicates then that HelioStella has his own journey that does not revolve around another.

Now, one may wonder, if the Sun's life is not devoted to revolving around another, what then could the Sun do? Perhaps Joyfully follow his own path of Self-discovery...

A matter of perspective

010411

If HelioStella is not devoted to revolving around another, does he have an orbit of any kind? This is indeed a question that Showay pondered himself. Here is the answer AurorA provided:

[AurorA] "There is indeed. However of a vaster Sort than anyone has conjectured. The scale on which orbit is accomplished is vaster still than ocean depths. The orbit of HelioStella in the 'vast reaches of space' are singular in nature. While it may seem to many you rotate about a central core, the Truth of the 'matter' is, you rotate not. [...] The 'orbit' of your HelioStella takes not a journey of forward momentum. It is instead hovering like a giant balloon tethered in space on a longitudinal axis of perpendicular motion."

Here are her words on a simplified graph.

Now, one thing to keep in mind before we continue is the notion of perspective. That is to say, the location of the observer predetermines how an event is described. For example, a car looks different viewed from above than from the front. If you watch a car driving straight ahead toward you, you will see it grow larger and closer to you. However, from a birds eye view, you would see that same car getting smaller as it goes further away from your stationary point. In either case, the car movement doesn't change even though it can be described in seemingly opposing ways. How can a car get larger and closer and smaller and further away at the same time? It is just a matter of perspective. Neither statement contradicts nor excludes the other.

Another thing to keep in mind is that expectations may cause the observer to make wrong conclusions regarding the event being observed. Let's return to our story for an example of this.

[AurorA] "HelioStella, while on its rotational axis moves approximately three quarters of a spin, or turn, each rotational day. It recovers a rotational spin each and every fourth day. This means, that coherent motion is lost each and every fourth rotation of HelioStella measure. [...] In Terra's rotational axis, there is no such coherence to a 'standard orbit', for each and every turn of HelioStella dictates a right and proper order of rotation of Terra's magnetic core."

[Showay] "But wouldn't that render our navigational instruments useless?"

AurorA smiled. "There is right and proper function of all magnetic instruments due to the 'core' belief in that function, for after all, observation is the key factor. The observed, acts as the observer expects. A key discrepancy would be indicated if the observer were to avoid 'discontinued' observation wherein he explains away small inconsistencies or adjusts for minute variations such as latitude or longitude."

As an engineer, I'm quite familiar with what AurorA is saying. In engineering / science there are two practices that are the backbone of modern theories. One: correction factors. That is to say if the theory / equation does not match the data / reality then fudge it with a "correction factor" to make it look like it does. Two: average mean or standard deviation. That is to say, lump data together so as to allow small inconsistencies to be ignored or explained away.

This kind of makes we wonder if the similarities between what is happening between Terra and us on Earth can simply be explained away...

A simple question

010511

We have seen that upon Terra, there are many things that are not as they are claimed to be. With this in mind, Showay felt he needed to go back to basics.

[Showay] "This may sound like an overly simple question, but is HelioStella a sphere?"

[AurorA] "Yes. You could say a bubble of energy which travels back and forth in a great cycle of forward momentum. As he progresses he comes to a time of recension, or rebirth you could say; a new upward and downward movement. In his cyclical movement, there is great regeneration or upheaval of a different sort than ever registered on any seismometer."

You may have noticed two things here. One, the first apparent contradiction regarding HelioStella's forward momentum. First we are told there is non, and now we are told there is forward momentum. It will take Showay some time to catch this and ask about this, so we will wait until that moment. Second, AurorA is speaking of a time of change and upheaval in relation to HelioStella's rebirth. With this in mind, let's find out where the conversation between AurorA and Showay takes us.

"What does this cycle of progression look like?"

"It is spherical in nature, which means it is not solid as you perceive. It is rather pointed at the ends which matters not to your perception. [...] As HelioStella progresses he seeks further understanding. In so doing, he reaches a 'point' or moment in time wherein he masters the Pleasure of the Kingdom, which is a moment of Right Endeavor, a pivotal point wherein Divine Pleasure is met. [...] HelioStella's progression is of greater magnitude of perception than here-to-fore seen. There comes a time in which under great stress or duress, your climate shall undergo great changes as erratic as a thunderstorm in May. Until that time you shall see vague irregularity of 'seasonal shift'."

I can still remember the day, while in college, when someone showed me an article which spoke of a Living Earth. I went berserk and did not hesitate one second in ridiculing this idea while emphatically stating that the Earth was nothing more than a dead piece of rock floating in space. The idea that Earth is a Living Being certainly collided with my catholic upbringing that allowed "man to rule over Earth". Accepting this noble idea would have required me to rethink my perception that it was ok to pilfer and abuse the land at will and without remorse.

It would not surprise me if several people coming across this posting and reading AurorA's words describing the Sun as a Living Being who seeks understanding so as to master the Pleasure of the Kingdom and meet Divine Pleasure, would react in a similar fashion. Fortunately for some, I guess, I'm sharing a science fiction story, yet I know from my own experience that even so, to many people, the simple mention that planets and Suns can be Living Beings is a preposterous proposition to say the least. Scientists upon Terra would probably call such a notion a superstitious wishful desire born of the need to create "gods" that transcends human "insignificance"... but... who is saying that HelioStella is a "god"?

To Showay, the idea of HelioStella being alive came also as a surprise, however it was a welcomed understanding. In my next posting, I will share some of what AurorA conveys to Showay regarding HelioStella's nature.

Liquid and concrete

010611

As AurorA indicated, HelioStella is a Living Being who is seeking understanding that will allow him to Master the Pleasure of the Kingdom. When she said to Showay that what she was about to share with him "is far and away greater in message and portent than has ever come before", she certainly was not joking. Let's see what we learn this day from their conversation.

"There is more to know about Heliotropos with regard to HelioStella's evolution," AurorA continued as the Light and Sound of her Being illuminated the night sky. "When the life cycle of HelioStella comes to an end, there will be lamenting aplenty. There is however, no imminent danger of him doing so. In his orderly progression or evolution of a greater nature, there is higher expression of Divinely Christed Nature."

Showay had heard references to the idea of ancient awakened ones becoming stellar bodies as they were transformed into Light.

Once again, AurorA responded to his thoughts. "That is possible, though not what I refer to. On Terra you see a Christly Entity as one who 'human endeavors'. There are certain of you who squelch not their Being into the vastly insignificant form of human endeavor. We shall begin our forward progression of the simplest nature. 'Liquid and concrete we shall be'."

In an expansive understanding beyond the words, he knew she was referring to consciousness taking the form of a vaporous body such as HelioStella, rather than being or becoming trapped in human physical form, just as he understood 'liquid concrete' to be the smooth and musical tone that unites the simplest principles.

Showay was probably as surprised to hear such Knowledge as you or I would be. Just as us, here on Earth, Showay had been taught of a universe and a creation that was the result of random acts of violence, decay, and destruction controlled by kind of "accidental" laws of physics. In this picture, stars and galaxies destroyed or "ate" each other alive while consuming their surroundings as well as themselves into oblivion. Planets were dead masses of particles which coalesced together for no other reason than chance gravitational pull. They were subject not only to the constant upheaval of destructive forces within them but also to the assault of meteorites and asteroids which could hit at any time without warning and cause massive destruction. The life that somehow formed upon Terra was nothing more than an accident of sorts that gave rise to humans who had no purpose in life other than to survive at the expense of the weakest while consuming everything around them. No different than the stars of creation. No safer than any planet.

Yet AurorA speaks of a different perspective of the Universe. A perspective that not only sparks Showay's curiosity for Greater Knowledge in an uplifting way, but also facilitates his rediscovery of himself and his place upon Creation. If you carefully re-read AurorA's conveyances to Showay, you will find vast Spiritual Knowledge which was all but lost to the People upon Terra. Can you perceive the wonderment of greeting HelioStella at Sun rise every day knowing you are literally looking at a Christed Being whose very presence not only facilitates life upon Terra, but also reminds people of their True Nature?

I would imagine that whether someone upon Terra can accept this Greater Knowledge or not would probably depend on whether their Mystical and Magical "Circuitry" was working Properly... or not (refer to "Father, Father Christmas, and Mystical and Magical" <sup>12</sup> ).

Pure matter of perception

010711

A Living Christed Being shining bright upon Terra's skies, each and every day as a sign of the Father's Desire to nurture and sustain Terra and her inhabitants, yet most people upon Terra walk oblivious to such Mystical and Magical experience of Life. They wonder where the signs of Creator are? How is it that there is no proof of His Existence? At the same time, those who proclaim to be faithful to "god" would deny as heresy and paganism the very claim or knowledge that HelioStella is a Christed Being. Each one so boxed in within the little restrictive / constrictive construct of Creation that they were indoctrinated into, that neither can see Creation for what it is. Each a different side of the same coin of deception, neither realizing that their Mystical and Magical "Circuitry" needs restored to Right and Proper Function.

Let's us take another look at matters of perception by going back to Heliotropos.

As Showay watched AurorA's image before him, he delighted in the color changes that gave coherence to her image. In so doing, he began to wonder whether color had anything to do with HelioStella's progression.

[AurorA]

"HelioStella is undergoing a great change in color, not seen with, or visible to, the naked eye. However, he is rising again to Life with colors and hues of a coronamatic effect now being seen at various levels of expression. Coronamatic effect is seen as rings around HelioStella.

You perceive his color refracted as 'pure white light'. It is however not 'pure white light', it has a red hue. Therefore, white light in your perception is greater still in red.

You perceive his color as yellow because you are told to."

AurorA is explaining to Showay that HelioStella's color is shifting toward the red. Are there any indications upon Terra of HelioStella's color shift? Of course they are, however once again, they are explained away as optical illusions, while optical illusions are accepted as accurate. Sunrise and Sunset upon Terra are the best times to see his real color. Total lunar eclipses also make this red hue visible to the naked eye. Another hint to this color shift comes from astronomers themselves who, when watching the night sky, use red light to look at their sky maps because red light is less disturbing to their vision.

Of course, people upon Terra are told that it is the refraction of the Sun's light that makes it appear as if it was red, thus claiming the red hue is an optical illusion. However AurorA speaks of refraction turning the red hue of HelioStella into 'pure white light.' This is indeed a shift in perception because refraction is normally associated with the shining of a beam of light into a prism so as to separate it into its color components. Thus, from the perspective of AurorA, it is the perception that the sun emits 'pure white light' or 'yellow' light that is the optical illusion.

As you can see, it is all a matter of perception. However, one perception is an accurate representation of reality and the other is a misrepresentation of reality so as to create a false sense of reality.

Which kind of perception would you rather have? And how would you know which one is the accurate one?

Until that day

010811

As we continue with the exploration of HelioStella's orbit and progression it is important to remind ourselves that as sorrows, pains, hates surface we can lay them upon the Altar of Divine Love and Power in Exchange for that which is an expression of our True Nature. The information that AurorA is getting ready to share with Showay is even greater in message and portent than what we have read so far. Let's learn then a little bit more about this process of going to the Altar by going back to Heliotropos.

"As you become freer and freer of your sorrow and increase your capacity to be focused on your Divine Nature, you will find that darkness will be less able to affect your life. Until the day in which you shall be free." AurorA was addressing Showay's concern about his nighttime experiences. "Trust and have Faith in that which is before you. Focus upon that which is Divinely Appointed and your energy, attention, shall multiply."

"I find it difficult to focus on the Divine when I am constantly bombarded with all this dark energy," shared Showay.

"Yet that is what you must do," replied AurorA.

It is important to recognize there are three spiritual understandings at work here.

One, the level of control the unrighteous / unholy have over a person is proportional to the sorrow / hate / fear / pain / repression / suppression that a person has. Cleanse yourself of these emotions and ask for the Truth of Who You Are to fill that cleansed space and your level of Freedom will increase.

Two, what you focus upon is what you become. Strengthen your faculty of Spiritual Will by consciously choosing to focus upon the Divine and that which you came here to do in the Father Plan and things will begin to shift for the better.

Three, Trust and Faith make a difference. Trust and have Faith in yourself and in the Father. Here are some quotes from Father on Faith (refer to "Have Faith" <sup>13</sup>):

When doubt comes creeping in: have Faith.

Your lesson in this,

is to perceive not with the eyes of the world, but to Know that the Father is Sovereign in all matters great and small.

You will see a great many things unfold and come to fruition when you walk in Faith, Knowing that it is so.

You must Know it is so.

Yes, as Showay says, it can be quite difficult, but that is what we must do until that day in which we shall be Free.

Useful distinction

010911

A few days ago I listened to a Coast to Coast AM interview with Steve Quayle and found it interesting to hear him say that knowledge brings or leads to sorrow. It seems appropriate to bring Discernment to that statement for the benefit of Truth.

In my experience, the Knowledge that Father brings about the Truth of Who We Are, Universal Law, Universal Truth, Universal Love of Self, the Mystical and Magical, and about Life in general brings great Joy, Freedom, Light Heartedness, and a shift in perception that is conducive to experiencing Life in a whole, new, and sacred Way.

In contradistinction to this, you have the knowledge the unrighteous / unholy brought to this planet which is designed to deceive, entrap, and pilfer the People through half Truths and false prophecies purported to justify their carnage / crime against humanity. The knowledge and experience that arises from living in their deception does indeed lead to sorrow... and I would add hate, anger, and so on.

Where the confusion arises between these two experiences is that when someone accepts deception, that deception and its accompanying emotions displace Truth and Feelings. Thus, when Father Speaks of Knowledge and Understanding that is related to this event, the lodged deception and emotions get stirred. Unfortunately, sometimes, the stirred emotional load can be so strong that people can get lost in the pain, trauma, sorrows, and false desires. Thus they loose track of the Blessings being bestowed by the Father Who is Providing the Opportunity to make a choice for Truth by doing some "Altar" work.

Another reason for this confusion is that Knowledge of Universal Truth reveals how we have been deceived and manipulated by the unrighteous / unholy and the mistakes we have made as a result of this. Sometimes, this can be very painful and it appears it is easier to ignore or avoid the Truth than to deal with the pain. In the end however, it is better to remove the splinter than to let it create an infection in the body.

Keep this in mind as we continue to explore Heliotropos, for what AurorA is about to share may "stir stuff up". Just lay it on the Altar in Exchange for the Truth of Who You Are... and then... move on.

The orbit... HelioStella's orbit at last

011011

Having brought up some important points for consideration through prior postings, it is time to jump right back into Heliotropos. It is a vital day upon Terra...

"[AurorA] Now unto other matters. In Infinity you see neither circularity, nor vague and nebulous circuit of your Desire. See instead vast, Glorious orbit of your Desire."

Full of enthusiasm and excitement, Showay asked, "Is that the orbit of HelioStella?"

AurorA beamed with pleasure at Showay's spark. "Yes it is, with some slight variation."

"Would I be able to draw the variation?"

"Yes indeed you can. See in your mind's eye the vast and circular orbit they try and impose upon your Endeavor. Now visualize at right angles to it another orbit in contradistinction to it. The juncture point at right angles to it. HelioStella conjoins its concentric orbit to another greater cycle of rehabilitation and rebirth."

[...] "What you have conveyed to me about HelioStella's orbit appears to be contradictory. How is it that HelioStella can have an orbit, when you initially told me that it moves in a perpendicular motion and has no forward momentum?"

AurorA waited quietly while Showay struggled to express his question. The rhythmic motion of Light and intricate tones or cords of her expression were subdued in the Lumina lit night. As she began to speak their intensity rose visibly. "Heliotropos, or the movement of HelioStella, is in a vertical plane, or level of existence, wherein to your perception, there is no coming and going. Yet to the perception of the Universes all is as it should be in Right and Proper Order. From your perception you would see the rise and fall of a great sphere as on a string. Yet it is in fact, a great circular motion of coming and going. The 'Point of Departure' we have spoken of has something to do with 'retro-bution'. You might say, the prior motion is such that it appears to retrace its footsteps."

"So when you said that HelioStella moves up and down like a tethered balloon, that was as viewed from my perspective?"

"Yes, that is so."

"So from another perspective it is a circle?" Continued Showay as his mind was expanding in understanding.

"Yes it is, and no it is not. Not, in the sense that its forward momentum carries it further afield each time it slingshots past its point of origin. We are talking of a point of view or perspective from somewhere in space, not from the orbit of Terra. There is but one perspective you should be concerned with at the moment, which is the one that foretells your 'Point of Departure' from Terra's orbit into HelioStella's magnosphere."

As you can see, this kind of Knowledge of HelioStella's orbit is one that could not be ascertained through observation and experimentation conducted by someone upon Terra. Herein is the limitation of people who restrict themselves to that which can be readily "measured and observed" to understand Creation.

Without allowing for something greater such as the capacity to acquire direct Knowledge of Creation and Divine / Universal Truths through contemplation and Love as Self, they will always be limited. Reason and logic alone just don't do it.

As Father has Said regarding Faith:

Your lesson in this, is to perceive not with the eyes of the world...

Point of Departure

011111

We have learned about the real orbit of HelioStella, a Christed Being whose life does not revolve around another, but simply around himself in his journey of exploration. In this journey, there will be a point in which he will master the Pleasure of the Kingdom. This can be said to be a time of rebirth or recension. It is the "point of departure" Aurora speaks of.

[Showay] "So the point to which you have been referring is the moment in which a shift in perception occurs?"

[Aurora] "A shift in perception which literally begins a shift in direction. [...] In HelioStella's Endeavor there is but one Christed Path: the one that returns him where he began. While for you, a slight shift in perception is all that is required for Righteous Endeavor, a slight shift in perception is of greater magnitude for HelioStella. It rocks the discovery to his core, the very fabric of his Being. At this point of shift in direction, Terra's magnetic core is pulled with extreme urgency into a new orbit around yet another, greater cycle of HelioStella. This 60 degree shift of his perception will result in a 45 degree shift in Terra's perception."

[...] Showay paused for a while and in his contemplation decided that he was ready to learn more about how Terra would be affected by HelioStella's shift. "What happens to Terra when the shift comes?"

Aurora continued with sadness. "There comes an hour of 'first deviation' in which HelioStella curves a slight variation out. East to your perspective. He will then veer sharply right at a transverse angle to his previous journey."

[...] As you are thrust through the aftermath of particles of sudden departure, you shall encounter debris which causes electrification of all particles of particulate matter. When this occurs, you shall see a fluctuation or counterbalance of energetic matter called human, such that you shall proceed to the fifth dimension of coexistence with all matter gone before you. It is a time of relative ease if you prepare in the proper manner. No electronics. Their collective energy will melt down in such a fashion as to make sure you would not survive. As all plastic's molecular structure implodes there is a gas released toxic enough to kill all life within a circumference of several thousand feet."

Showay certainly had a difficult time with this information for it transcended any kind of doomsday scenario anyone upon Terra has envisioned or prophesied. However, it is important to recognize that AurorA is not a doomsayer. Instead, she is conveying Knowledge that had been purposely hidden from the People by the unrighteous – unholy. In so doing, she is giving the People not only the capacity to understand what is about to happen and why it will happen, but also the Opportunity to prepare for it.

While it is the case that the People have a say in the direction events take upon Terra, this is one event in which they have no say other than choosing how they will experience the rebirth of HelioStella. Father has Graced the People upon Terra with extra time, however, point of departure is at hand. The wise will recognize the Blessings of HelioStella's Spiritual Progression that will restore Freedom upon Terra and those who choose to prepare and be restored to the Truth of Who they Are. In this, People will have to learn to be at Peace with each other's choices and to recognize that no one who chooses Life needs bow to the dead wishes of the unrighteous - unholy.

Departure time line

011211

The picture is getting clearer. The understanding that AurorA has conveyed brings a new perspective to the events and changes that are being observed upon Terra and even upon the other planets of the star system. Terra is preparing for HelioStella's shift into a new orbit and the changes can no longer be ignored by the People. Some even speak of changes in Lumina's position in the sky while others speak of changes in HelioStella's position. The air of urgency in the skies is felt by many...

[Showay] "Are HelioStella and Terra already in first deviation?"

[AurorA] "In Righteous Sort of Endeavor you could say they are. The fact of the matter is, they are nearer their journey of Endeavor in Righteous Sort of action."

"Are they approximately half way through first deviation?" <sup>14</sup>

"You could say that is so, however, the last half of progression is strikingly worse than previous portion of progression. The gradual easing into the destructive path of progression is such that humanity could have adjusted its measure to sustain less impact. It is however not so, humanity has entered further reaches of its desire and long sustained, or endured continued degradation of humanity's plane / planet of existence. Radical measures could sustain humanity further, but radical measures indeed would be called for.

During this course of events, Terra will 'shake and rattle' in vast proportion and quantity. It would be well and timely to prepare a sacred dwelling for this time. As Terra shivers and groans in her outward journey to the stellas, there will be no three days of darkness as you perceive it. It will be three days of death and destruction, during which HelioStella will do erratic things in skyward motion. You will be jerked along as Terra continues her forward momentum and is abruptly adjusted. While HelioStella in one great shivering moment adjusts to make the turn, forward momentum carries Terra, HelioStella, and Lumina into a new orbit. As HelioStella assumes this new orbit, so will Terra and Lumina. Lumina has not been slipping away from Terra as they say, but rather closing in.

This new adjustment of HelioStella's path will allow balance of Terra and Lumina to be restored. There will be a Right and Proper Exchange of Energies unto a new found day."

The need to prepare a “safe space” has been in the minds of many upon Terra, but how many know that this place of seclusion needs to be free of electronics and plastics? The purveyors / servants of the unrighteous – unholy think they can hide deep underground only to surface again when the “dust has settled”, but how many of them know that this time no one underground will survive? The unrighteous – unholy themselves think that they will be able to escape to another star system or to divert HelioStella’s progression into a supernova that will feed them, but how many of them have the sense to realize they are fooling themselves? Many good intended People think that a savior will arrive from the skies and transport them into safety, but how many of them know that no one can save anyone else and make the necessary inner changes for them?

For the unrighteous – unholy, there is no place to hide, no place to escape to, and no safe haven. The game of darkness, death, decay, and destruction will end with HelioStella’s progression. Universal Law has arrived upon Terra to ensure that this is so.

For those who Desire Life and who Desire to Live in Peace, Joy, Respect, Honor, Harmony, and of one a-chord with their True Divine Nature, there is no need to hide, escape, or even seek to foolishly prevent HelioStella’s progression. Instead, these People have an integral part to Play in this progression. They are neither bystanders nor victims in what is to come, for in their choices lay the capacity to facilitate Terra’s change into a new orbit.

To put it in AurorA’s words:

“To stabilize Terra, humanity must cease to venture far and wide and must focus on Righteous Endeavor. To do so would ensure stability of a sort to hold together a Grand and Glorious Being of Grand Nature. Humanity’s pivotal point of stability would ensure survival of a Greater Being than you yet know.”

Venturing far and wide is a reference to humanity playing in the game of the unrighteous – unholy.

Focusing on Righteous Endeavor is making the choices that restore oneSelf to the Truth of Love as Self free of the bondage of another. It is to reestablish communion with the Father and thus to bring Right Action, Right Thinking, and Right Manifestation of His Good Will to safely Guide humanity through the coming changes so that it may once again Live and Walk in Freedom upon Terra.

Where in our time line?

011311

We have found out that HelioStella is past first deviation and closer to point of departure. The question arises then, how many years are left for preparation... Keep in mind that we wrote this science fiction book around 2003. It is 2011 upon Terra now...

Showay had become especially aware of the urgency of AurorA's message since she confirmed that HelioStella had already entered 'first deviation'. It couldn't be much longer before the 'Point of Departure' would be reached and he wanted to know how much time was left to prepare. He had remembered people talking about two key years in which ancient civilizations had predicted major changes would occur and had chosen to use this information to ask his question. "Is the 'Point of Departure' in 2005, or 2012, by our counting?"

"It is neither. Both you could say, but that would not be accurate. By 2005 there will be tectonic forces pulling at Terra's mantel, or crust, as HelioStella pulls away from orbit before the last sling into Greater Endeavor. You are seeing anomalies now which your scientists cannot explain. They think, better left unsaid to the populations, than to acknowledge failure in this respect. By 2012 in your counting, these forces will be pulling away at Terra's structure. It will seem barely possible to withstand the onslaught. It is however just at this point, there is a relaxing into Righteous Endeavor of the Greatest Rapture heretofore seen in only one Endeavor of such magnitude or proportion. It is in this relaxing, Terra may slip out to a distance of approximately, 100,000 miles further to resume Righteous Endeavor of Greater Progression."

Showay was almost afraid to ask. "When is the relaxing?"

"That would be 2012 in your counting. Terra will restructure in the years preceding this so as to be a new Terra."

HelioStella has already pulled away from his orbit as he gets ready for the "last sling". This probably explains many of the changes People have noticed in the skies. The year 2012 marks not the end of civilization as has been portrayed, but rather the window of opportunity for Terra to slip into another orbital path that will restore her to balance. There is however much restructuring of Terra that needs to occur before then, thus the need to prepare.

While the unrighteous – unholy will seek to take advantage of this time to do their own version of “earth changes” designed to destroy the People while blaming their actions on “the judgment of god” who is “punishing the sinners / unfaithful”, it is the case that much of the changes naturally initiated by Terra are designed to end the very play of the unrighteous – unholy who seek to interfere with her progression. There is a clear distinction here.

The action of the unrighteous – unholy are designed to ensure the destruction of the People who Love Truth and Desire for things to be different... and this includes Terra and HelioStella. No one survives the plan of the unrighteous – unholy except them (or so they think).

In contradistinction to this, Terra’s restructuring, while appearing to threaten all life, is actually intended to provide People upon Terra the Opportunity to make it through to a Bright New Day. It is however in the hands of the People upon Terra to wake up NOW. Not tomorrow, not until there are clearer signs, not until scientists acknowledge what is happening, not until more conclusive evidence is made available... but NOW.

A Sacred Space

011411

With a clearer understanding of what is about to happen in Terra's future, let's find out what someone upon Terra would do to create a safe and sacred space that would facilitate moving through this transition.

In this, a distinction must clearly be made between the two stages for which preparation is needed. The first stage would require a place that will provide safety during the earth changes that will take place upon Terra prior to Point of Departure. The second stage will require a place that will provide safety during Point of Departure. The key difference between the two is that during the first phase of increasing earth changes, plastics and electronics will "survive". HOWEVER, plastics and electronics will self destroy during Point of Departure and therefore MUST be absent from the shelter created for this time. Because of how pervasive plastics and electronics have become upon Terra, this will include removal of all plastics and electronics from the body in the form of implants, tooth filling, chips, nanotechnology, and beauty products. Consideration upon Terra would also include ensuring that all clothes for this time are of natural fabrics and are NOT sown with plastic threads or dyed with plastic / artificial colors.

With this clarification in mind, let's go back to AurorA and Showay and learn more about the shelter that will be required for Point of Departure.

"You have mentioned the need to prepare a sacred space for shelter from what is to come. How is that done? Showay began his final questioning on Heliotropos.

"That would be a simple question indeed. To prepare a sacred space of your Endeavor for the times ahead requires but one simple, thoughtful question: "What would nourish your Soul, or Soul Endeavor, were you to live in seclusion for three to four months of your Endeavor .

What AurorA conveys here is of utmost importance. The design of the shelter is about providing a sacred space in which one's Soul can feel comforted and nourished while Terra and HelioStella are readjusting their orbits. This arrangement of the shelter is important because it will help convey and reassure during times of doubt, that what is happening is not to be viewed as a catastrophe or punishment for humanity's sins, but rather as a Spiritual Progression of such magnitude and proportion as to have happened only once before. People all over Terra who have retained their Spiritual Knowledge and focus have been actively preparing. It is only those who have been asleep and dreaming who are finding themselves and their civilization to not only be unprepared but actually participant in the creation of the very conditions that may threaten Life upon Terra.

"Would an underground dwelling with a roof covered with two feet of dirt, like a kiva suffice? What about a straw bale house covered with adobe or such?"

"The Design of your Endeavor would allow such dwelling to suffice indeed."

"What about ventilation?" Showay was concerned about toxicity that would be released during this time.

"It would suffice to hand crank a fan with filtration not too coarse. A double filter box, constructed with furnace filter of your Desire. Multiple layers with micro filter inside."

Showay received an image of the filter box. "I see three layers of filters in a box with an outside opening and an inside side panel for removal. Is this accurate? Will it be safe to remove and replace the filters in the dwelling?"

"Yes indeed it is, on both counts."

Showay understood that the preparation of a sacred space, of a necessity, required provision of all the food and water needed to sustain those who were to live in this sacred space, not only for the three to four months Aurora mentioned, but for several months more. If the extent of changes in Terra were as he was shown, he was certain there would be food and water shortages and famine all across the world. As this understanding came to him, he realized that he would not have been able to prepare and possibly survive, without being free of the belief that he had to live in poverty because of his choice to Serve the Divine.

Simplicity and "low tech" is certainly a key factor in preparation for Point of Departure, however this does not equal to subsistence living and accommodations.

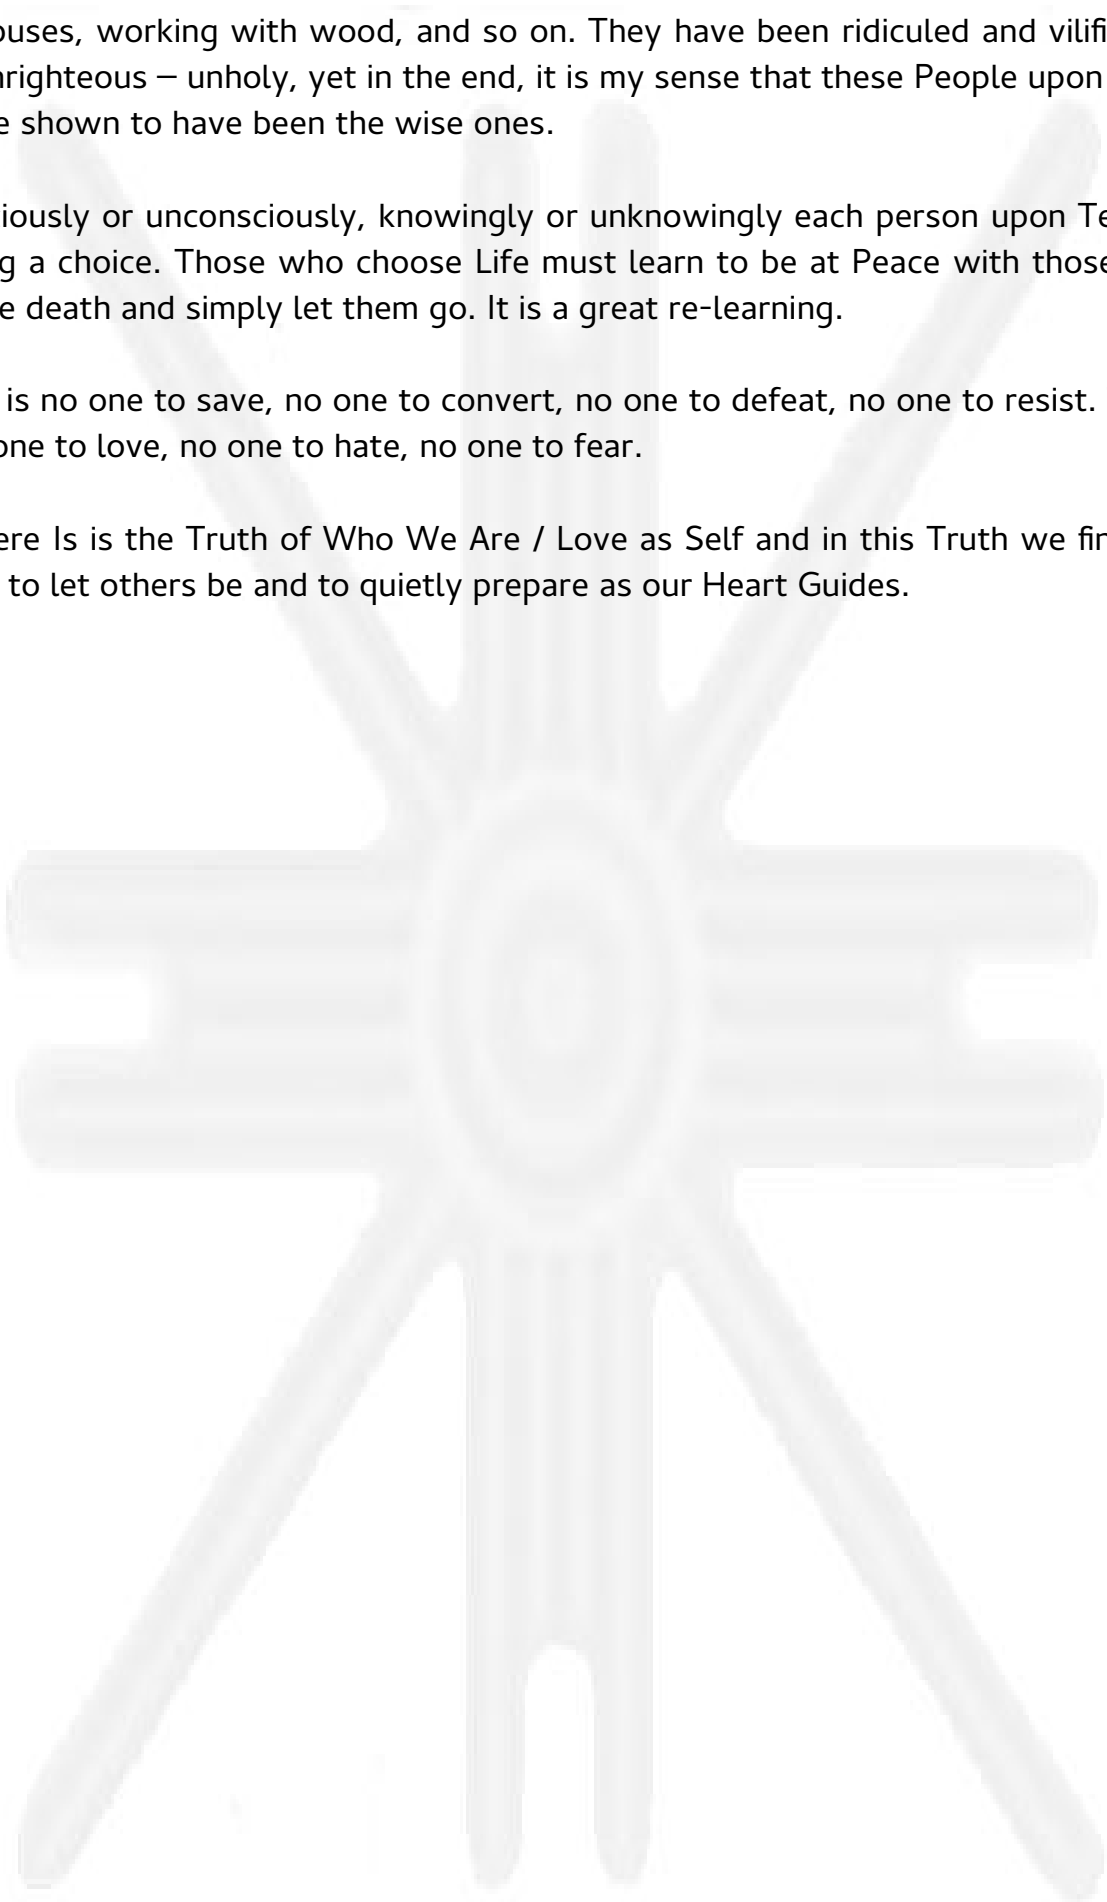

Many People all over Terra have found themselves guided to return to a more natural way of life and to relearn "primitive" skills such as making bonfires, building log houses, working with wood, and so on. They have been ridiculed and vilified by the unrighteous – unholy, yet in the end, it is my sense that these People upon Terra will be shown to have been the wise ones.

Consciously or unconsciously, knowingly or unknowingly each person upon Terra is making a choice. Those who choose Life must learn to be at Peace with those who choose death and simply let them go. It is a great re-learning.

There is no one to save, no one to convert, no one to defeat, no one to resist. There is no one to love, no one to hate, no one to fear.

All there is is the Truth of Who We Are / Love as Self and in this Truth we find the Peace to let others be and to quietly prepare as our Heart Guides.

Radical measures

011511

Now that we have learned about the need for a safe or sacred space of elegant simplicity designed to nourish and sustain the Soul during Point of Departure, let's take a look at the direction that would facilitate humanity's transition during this time.

"Showay continued with his next question for AurorA. "You also indicated that humanity could take radical measures to sustain itself further. What measures would be called for?"

"Humanity would have to restructure it's Endeavor so as to nourish and sustain life in a manner that is Respectful to Harmonious agriculture and husbandry, and is Respectful of all sentient life forms. Where Harmony is defined as relationship with the Divine. Many innovative design plans could sustain and nourish your world and humanity."

Showay understood that this radical measure did not require an abrupt change that would bring destruction. He understood, that a transformation could happen if, for example, all farms would be converted to organic farms and if household compost collection was used to nourish the soil. Showay saw that it wouldn't take long to use up all the 'chemical produce' and for it to be replaced with organic produce. He also knew such measures would have to be implemented voluntarily, and that no one could be forced to participate, for such changes are to come from the Heart of each individual. Any other way, would be simply a continuation of the status quo, which is in opposition to Divine Harmony."

In my posting "Departure time line" <sup>15</sup> I quoted AurorA explaining to Showay that to stabilize Terra, humanity needs to stop venturing "far and wide" and begin focusing "on Righteous Endeavor". Today we get a further refinement of what humanity's Righteous Endeavor upon Terra is <sup>16</sup>.

AurorA speaks of doing things in a way that nourishes and sustains life rather than destroy / defile / degrade / enslave / indebt. She speaks of Harmonious agriculture and husbandry (of the land) and defines Harmony as a relationship with the Divine.

People upon Terra are Beautifully Creative Individuals and were they to recognize that it is possible to bring forth these innovations outside the restrictive / constrictive construct of the mercantile game, they would Prosper in such way as to make preparation for Point of Departure possible. Free of the need to profiteer or "save the world", People could quietly create in their own "back yards" and discreetly trade with other like minded People in what could be called a "limited edition" fashion. That is to say, only enough is made to keep the necessary resources flowing so as to support one's own Journey and Preparation for Point of Departure and beyond. The goal is not to change the world, become second to none, cater to consumption, or amass fortunes, but rather to give expression to one's Creative Nature in a manner that is Harmonious with the Divine and thus within what is naturally available (which by the way is significantly greater than what is available through the mercantile game).

"Innovations that are Harmonious with the Divine" is of course a reference to being Harmonious with the Father's Good Will to solidify Heaven upon Terra. Because there is much confusion and deception upon Terra in this matter it would be easy for People to mistakenly believe that they are being asked to bow and be limited to servitude unto another "god". Yet Father seeks neither worshipers nor servants. Instead, He Desires, Supports, and Facilitates the restoration of Terra and her inhabitants to their True unbroken, undefiled Nature that allows each to InJoy the Beauty of Creation in Peace, Health, Abundance and Freedom. Harmony with the Divine restores Right and Proper Cohesiveness and Direction to People's actions and takes them out of the "disturbed anthill" mentality <sup>17</sup>. With Clarity and Focus Restored, the Path of Righteous Endeavor becomes clearly visible once again.

The right pier

011711

Heliotropos has been an interesting journey of discovery and awakening to the wonders of Creation. How much more wonderful is Creation, than the restrictive / constrictive / demoralizing / degrading view given to us by scientists, astronomers, and priests who tell us we are these insignificant beings on an insignificant earth orbiting a minor sun in some remote forgotten corner of the universe – a shame in the eyes of “god” who had to kill his own son to cleanse us from our sinful nature?

The parallels between Terra and Earth are certainly interesting to say the least. Terra inhabitants are indeed a valiant People who, despite all the atrocities that the unrighteous – unholy have perpetrated against them still retain a Desire for Truth. While little understanding of what this encompasses remains upon the People, it is the case that this Desire for Truth, or the Father Way, is a testimony to the greatness of Terra’s inhabitants and of the Father. Rather than ridiculed, People upon Terra should indeed be seen with Respect for such steadfastness.

Let’s go to “Heliotropos: Toward the Sun” one last time for the purpose of this thread.

“Is there anything [else] I should know that will help me prepare for what is to come?” Showay asked with urgency.

“It is Right and Proper to secure your boat to the right pier of your Endeavor. The pier of your Endeavor would be the one that securely anchors, while allowing for drift. You need a point from which to rotate, or anchor your motion, or rotation. It is similar to Heliotropos in a vast sort of encompassing Desire, Drive, Urge to compare himself in the vast range of Desire to where he has come from.”

In my entry “Setting Sail” <sup>18</sup> I talked about a shift in perception that would allow People to see themselves as individuals sailing upon the current sea of Creation. AuroraA speaks today about the need for People to secure their “boat to the right pier”. Just as HelioStella rotates around a point in space, just as Terra anchors her motion on HelioStella, just as the moon Lumina anchors his motion on Terra, so too, People upon Terra need to anchor their motion to keep themselves from wandering aimlessly. Aurora does not speak of immobility, but rather of a point from which to rotate.

While someone upon Terra wouldn't understand AurorA's words readily, it is the case that they are very familiar with the distortion of this Spiritual Truth.

The distortion of this Spiritual Truth manifests in Terra in various forms, however the core of the deception is the belief that People's life should revolve around someone else's life. A man around a woman, a woman around a man, teenagers around their idols or sex, children around their parents, people around their country, employees around their boss, and even people in general around stars. Stars you say? Yes, stars... movie stars, sports stars, business stars...

Suddenly things begin to coalesce. Can you see how the unrighteous – unholy used Truth to create a deception and why it seems "natural" for People to participate in the deception? They took a Spiritual Faculty designed to support People's Journey upon Terra and twisted it to support distorted behavior.

HelioStella is a Star. He is also a Christed Being. If a Christed Being of such magnitude revolves around another star, as People are told in the deception, why not the life of People upon Terra? "You need a role model, someone to look up to and be like"... the advice goes. Admittedly, People upon Terra no longer consciously know that stars are Christed Beings, however this suppressed understanding becomes unconsciously transferred to the worldly stars who give the "commoners" the role model of "Christed behavior". They shine in their glamor, they wear the glitter of gemstones and expensive clothes augmented by camera flashes, they engage in deviate, dishonest, distorted behavior, they lust for money, fame, people, and power, they are consumptive and feed on those who gladly spend money, attention, and energy on them...until that they in which they begin to fade away in the night sky and die. Not unlike what People upon Terra are told happens in the Universe, where stars live as they consume themselves and each other only to die in due time.

It is not a coincidence that when the unrighteous – unholy forced themselves upon Terra, they began a systematic indoctrination of the People into astronomy, language, and mathematics, for all of these "sciences" work together to create a false testimony of Creation that justify destructive behavior. Many ancient People who received this indoctrination, in their innocence, thought they were being gifted with great knowledge, yet Knowledge is not what these People received. What they received was a mockery of Universal Truth and it is this mockery that constitutes the foundation of modern civilization upon Terra.

This pattern of behavior and deception can certainly be recognized upon Earth as well. Perhaps the most recent exemplification of what happened to ancient earth dwellers when the unrighteous – unholy arrived upon Earth is depicted in the story of Native Americans who innocently welcomed and even helped the first Europeans when they arrived with valueless trinkets and the pretense of superior knowledge. We certainly all know of the destruction and rampage that followed.

It would do us well here on Earth to recognize and learn to see past the glitter of deception - old and new, and learn what it means to "secure our boat to the right pier".

Earth and Terra

011711

Since my last entry yesterday provided an opportunity to make a comment about what has happened on Earth, it seems appropriate to make a reference to an article titled "The sun rises two days early in Greenland, sparking fears that climate change is accelerating"<sup>19</sup>.

It would be easy to infer from this article that the change happened "overnight", however, it is the case that Sun related changes around the arctic have been manifesting and observed for quite a while. Here is a link to an article from March 9, 2007 titled "Pole Shift Underway or Natural Phenomenon?"<sup>20</sup> This article reports that for the past several years (that is prior to 2007 !), People have been observing the winter dark season ending earlier than usual and the sun coming up at different places than usual.

Apparently, this year, the change was so obvious and 'in your face' that it could no longer be obscured, no pun intended. The scientific explanations for this event remain as irrational as any others given in the past. Scientists say people are experiencing some kind of mass illusion caused by melting icecaps that allow the sun's light to "penetrate through earlier". What is amusing is that under the reader's comments you will find one observation by Ole Heinrich from Nuuk, Greenland stating that the "sun in Ilulissat factually rises from behind mountains without ice."

Linda says scientists are simply giving People answers that constitute "plausible stupidity". I agree, and would further add that they are indeed mocking the People for they think, in their arrogance, that we are too stupid to notice otherwise.

This talk about the mockery of the People brings me back to Terra, where, as I explained in my last entry, People have also been deceived. Curiously enough, this deception does include a mockery to the matters of the Sun. In that entry, I specifically noted two ways in which the unrighteous-unholy mock the People. One, through the introduction of 'worldly stars' who portray decadence and materialism, and two, through a model of the universe which portrays cannibalism, death, mindless self consumption, and destruction. A third way in which this is accomplished is through the religious indoctrinations that teaches People to emulate "Christed Beings" who self sacrifice, walk in poverty, and allow themselves to be tortured and killed for the benefit and amusement of others. In all these cases, People's lives are to revolve around the actions and dictates of others, while ignoring their own inner Guidance and Wisdom.

It is the case however that as the People upon Terra increase their capacity to choose Truth over deception, they are making it possible for humanity to once again see a day in which the Sun HelioStella no longer sets. The signs of this progression are becoming more and more undeniable upon Terra. Which leads me to the following question:

Could it be that, here upon the Earth, we are progressing to such a day too?

Great Opportunities

011911

As I was writing about HelioStella and the two levels of preparation that were needed for Point of Departure, it was readily apparent that within the necessity of this preparation there were many Opportunities for the People upon Terra to change what they do and how they do it.

If you were to think of a world free of plastics and electronics, how would your life change? What would you do different? It would be nice to accomplish the change overnight, but for most of us that would not be feasible. Thus we would progress one step at a time.

As we progress and think about all the "new" needs that arise in this personal transition and how to adjust to such a "new" environment, many creative ideas will become available. It is in this creative expression that humanity may find new ways to sustain itself and support itself in a new way by doing commerce that is free of the mercantile game of the unrighteous - unholy.

The direction of this new way of doing commerce would not sprout out of the greed for profit or lust for power by doing the bidding of the unrighteous – unholy at the expense of the world and People. Instead, it would sprout out of the basic need to take care of ourselves as we learn to Walk in the Father Way and prepare for Point of Departure.

Many months ago, I read a blog entry somewhere (I wish I had kept a reference) of a family that made a choice to move out to the land and become self reliant. Initially, the husband retained a job but soon realized that by the time he deducted the expenses related to getting to that job, his net income was well below the minimum wage. Thus they made a choice to do things different. One of these choices included making an earth oven to bake their breads and foods with available wood from their property. Soon, neighbors started asking for his "artisan" breads and resources began flowing his way to a point where he could not meet demand. However, when someone suggested he "expand to meet demand" or "start a business", this family was wise enough to recognize the trap. All the Joy they received from baking and preparing food in their earth oven would have been quickly siphoned away by the worries and debt obligations of the mercantile game. Instead they chose Joy.

I like this story so much because it illustrates so well the idea that in choosing to take care of ourselves and doing something we like, Opportunities can present themselves to trade resources with other like minded People.

This is a key concept in this new way of doing commerce. That which is done is first and foremost a creative expression that nourishes and sustains our own Journey. This family didn't do an earth oven to start a business. They did it to nourish and sustain themselves in a creative way. Whether it be raising chickens for eggs, goats for milk, sheep for wool, vegetables for food... whether it be woodworking, blacksmithing, and so on, it is something that is done to meet one's own needs. This activity may then bring an Opportunity to trade in various ways.

In this kind of trade, what is traded is always the excess abundance that is generated by People who Love doing what they do. The "cream of the cream" is reserved for Self. This is done out of the recognition that one cannot prosper when there is self imposed restrictions and lack. Trading the "cream of the cream" and bulk of the abundance away impoverishes the mind and Soul and creates the illusion that others always come first and are more valuable than Self. We are learning to do things differently.

Think of all the things that would be needed: natural mattresses made of wool or even bed-straw, clothes dyed with natural colors and sewn with natural fibers, new inventions that work in a natural way with the environment, and so much more...

Many of these inventions are already being brought forth by People all over the world. However, they are directed toward improving the lives of "impoverished" People in third world countries. Perhaps it would be wise to recognize that the "civilized" world needs these type inventions more than any third world country...

It is Wise to start at Home and take care of Home first.

-
- 1) http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Apparent\_retrograde\_motion
  - 2) <http://shadowandsubstance.com/Me/me.html>
  - 3) <http://rense.com/>
  - 4) <http://www.divulgence.net/>
  - 5) <http://www.uwgb.edu/dutchs/PSEUDOSC/49Degrees.HTM>
  - 6) <http://www-istp.gsfc.nasa.gov/stargaze/Sunangle.htm>
  - 7) <http://www.telegraph.co.uk/news/worldnews/australiaandthepacific/australia/8213932/Winty-weather-brings-snow-to-Australia-in-midsummer.html>
  - 8) To learn more about this phenomenon on Earth, you can visit http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Analemmatic\_sundial and <http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Analemma>.
  - 9) See "A patch of Abundance" posted on April 19, 2010 and available in BlueStar Blog Book 2 and "Another step" posted on March 5, 2010 and available in BlueStar Blog Book 1.
  - 10) Posted on January 13, 2010 and available in book BlueStar Blog 1.
  - 11) Posted on February 26, 2010 and available in BlueStar Blog 1.
  - 12) Posted on October 17, 2010 and available in BlueStar Blog 4.
  - 13) Posted on August 8, 2010 and available in BlueStar Blog 3.
  - 14) "Heliotropos: Toward the Sun" was written in 2003.
  - 15) Posted on January 12, 2011 and available on this book.
  - 16) Righteous: [right + wise]. To do that which is Right in a Wise manner.
  - 17) This is a reference to the chaotic ant behavior observed when their anthill is disturbed.
  - 18) Posted on December 30, 2010 and available on this book.
  - 19) <http://www.dailymail.co.uk/sciencetech/article-1346936/The-sun-rises-days-early-Greenland-sparking-fears-climate-change-accelerating.html>
  - 20) http://standeyo.com/NEWS/07\_Space/070312.Sun.quirks.html

---

About the Authors

Linda Diane Mead was born and raised in these United States of America. She obtained an under-graduate degree in Psychology with a minor in Philosophy and a PhD in Metaphysics from a Theological School.

Martin Riedel was born in Argentina, South America, and lived in Uruguay and Mexico as he grew up. After beginning college in Mexico he came to these United States of America, where he graduated with a degree in Chemical Engineering.

Upon meeting, they embarked on a memorable journey of self discovery that took them across the States. This book is one of the many fruits of their 'Labour of Love.'

Linda left the material plane in 2014.

